Hard talk on change in LAC status quo

Jaishankar tells Wang Yi full restoration of peace needed to build ties

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Wednesday met his Chinese counterpart Wang Yi on the sidelines of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) foreign ministers' meeting in Dushanbe, Tajikistan where they discussed outstanding issues on the troubled Line of Actual Control in Ladakh.

"Concluded a one-hour bilateral meeting with State Councilor and FM Wang Yi of China on the sidelines of Dushanbe SCO Foreign Ministers Meeting. Discussions focused on the outstanding issues along the LAC in the Western Sector. Highlighted that unilateral change of status quo is not acceptable. Full restoration and maintenance of peace and tranquility in border areas is essential for development of our ties. Agreed on convening an early meeting of the Senior Military Commanders," Jaishankar said in a series of tweets.

The two leaders had earlier met in September last year on the sidelines of another SCO meet in Moscow where they had agreed on a five-point mechanism to ensure disengagement and de-escalation along the LAC. "The external affairs minister emphasized the need to follow through on the agreement reached then (in Moscow) and complete the disengagement, resolving the remaining issues along the LAC in Eastern Ladakh at the earliest," a statement from the ministry stated.

Jaishankar pointed out that the successful disengagement in Pangong Lake earlier this year had created conditions for resolving the remaining issues. "It was expected that the Chinese side would work with us towards this objective. He however noted that the situation in remaining areas is still unresolved," it added.

Going forward, the two leaders agreed that in the next meeting of the military commanders, the two sides should discuss all the remaining issues and seek a mutually acceptable solution.

"There was also an understanding that both sides will continue to ensure stability on the ground and neither side will take any unilateral action that could increase tension," the foreign ministry's statement said.

Mandaviya slams states over vax shortage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi, Bengaluru

NEWLY-appointed Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya got into a collision mode with states on Wednesday, slamming them for "creating panic" among people over alleged shortage of vaccines.

The Central Government also raised concerns over the slow pace of vaccination at private hospitals. It reviewed the situation in 15 states, including Karnataka, on Wednesday.

Mandaviya, criticising the states for issuing "useless statements", alleged that they have mismanaged the inoculation drive. "The states had been informed of available supplies in advance, but they failed to plan accordingly," he said, denying that there is a shortage of vaccines.

However, officials from Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Jammu and Kashmir, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Punjab, Rajasthan, Uttarkahand and West Bengal confirmed to The New Indian Express that they were facing a shortage of vaccines on Wednesday.

Tamil Nadu, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Delhi and West Bengal have shut many vaccination centres due to lack of vaccines over the last one week. In Haryana, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Gujarat and Chhattisgarh, there is a decline in average daily vaccinations since the high of June 21-26.

Mandaviya said 11.46 crore doses were available in June and the numbers have increased to 13.5 crore this month. Of these, 1.5 crore doses are meant for private hospitals.

Terming the pace of vaccination at Private Covid Vaccination Cenres (PCVCs) a worry, Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan said the issue should be addressed immediately. "Many have not placed any indent for the earmarked quantum of vaccines," he added.

But Dr Prasanna HM, president, Private Hospitals and Nursing Association, Karnataka, said they have sent an advisory to 6,000 private hospitals in the State to complete the indenting process by Thursday.

Private hospitals in the State can indent up to 15 lakh doses. Prasanna said that frequent changes in vaccine procurement guidelines and no clarity on who to make the payments had led to delays in indenting.

DROP SEC 66-A CASES, ADVISES HOME MINISTRY

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday ordered states and Union territories to "immediately withdraw" all cases filed under the repealed Section 66-A of the Information Technology Act, nine days after the Supreme Court termed the unabated use of the scrapped section "a shocking state of affairs".

The government's directive will help save the judiciary's time as 745 cases filed under the defunct section are pending before various trial courts in 11 states.

The Ministry of Home Affairs further ordered states and UTs to direct all police stations under their jurisdiction not to register cases under the section, which was scrapped by the SC on March 24, 2015.

"It has been brought to our notice through an application in Hon'ble Supreme Court that FIRs are still being lodged by some police authorities under the struck down provision of Section 66-A of IT, Act, 2000. The Supreme Court has taken a very serious view in the matter," the MHA said in the communication to states and UTs.

In the letter to all the chief secretaries of states, administrators of UTs and police chiefs, the MHA emphasised the need to "sensitise the law enforcement agencies for the compliance of the order issued by the Supreme Court on 24.03.2015".

The home ministry also reminded the states that it had sent directives to the authorities on three previous occasions on January 11, January 14 and April 1 to sensitise the police authorities.

Teachers are expected to hold classes as per schedule and send the attendance list to the principal every day.

As lecturers have been coming to college since July 7, they have been asked to hold online classes from the premises of their schools.

State sees 15-20% rise in crime post lockdown

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

CRIME rates, which had dipped during the Covid-induced lockdown, have seen an increase of 15-20 per cent after the restrictions were lifted last month, said Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai here on Wednesday.

Taking part in the passing-out parade of probationary police sub-inspectors and deputy superintendents of police, Bommai said, "Most of the cases that are being reported now are dacoity, theft and chain snatching. Earlier, a majority of chain-snatching cases were filed from urban areas, but after the lockdown was lifted, these crimes are being witnessed in rural areas too. I have instructed police officials to increase the number of beats at nights and early mornings. I have also told them to deploy more personnel on such patrolling duties."

Commending the police force for fighting the drug menace effectively, he said that in recent times, narcotic drugs worth over ₹50 crore have been seized across the State. "But the challenge is to track the movement of drugs through the dark web. Still, the police have been quite successful," he added.

AS tourist centres across the country are bustling with people after the lockdown restrictions were lifted, the scene is no different at Hampi. In the last 15 days, over 20,000 tourists have visited the world heritage site and there have been a number of violations of Covid-appropriate behavior, which could turn Hampi into a super-spreader area.

Visitors are seen going around not wearing masks and without maintaining social distancing. The electric buggies that operate in Hampi too are packed with visitors.

Hampi sees tourists most seasons of the year | EXPRESS

A tourist guide working at Hampi said that only a few security guards have been deployed to check whether tourists are following Covid norms. But most of the tourists do not listen to these guards and continue to break the rules. "The local people are worried about the rush of people here," he added.

Hampi World Heritage Area Management Authority (HWHAMA) Commissioner Siddarameshawar said strict action will be taken against those not following the guidelines. "We have appointed teams to keep a check on tourists not following guidelines. But as the area is vast, it is difficult to keep a close eye. Ultimately it's the responsibility of tourists who visit Hampi. If Covid19 cases increase, the administration may think of temporarily closing or restricting entry once again," he noted.

PETER VIDAL

15th July: It seems strange to think that it's over fifty years since human beings first travelled into space. The space programme has faltered as both the pioneers, the Americans and Russians, ran out of money or cut their budgets. That's why I look to India as the nation to take us to other planets in the twenty-first century!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Surface appearances are misleading but, at a deeper level, much of what has taken place recently concerns how much you value yourself and the contributions you know you are capable of making to your environment. Hopefully, you've already gained in confidence.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You are quite justified in your suspicion that you've been getting a raw deal, yet you must admit that this is inevitable if you never make it clear what you need. This is a time to be more open about your wants and desires. Around the end of the week you'll even be able to face up to a secret dream.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
If you were to be honest with yourself, you'd admit your own part in obscuring the issues and so undermining a relationship which is extremely important to your happiness. You must be more aware of your real motivations. At work, it looks as if colleagues are keeping secrets, but nothing you need worry about.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You might be regretting recent expenditure, or any other way in which you've disposed of your earnings and savings. However, if you carry on as you are at present, you're well on the way to making a decent profit. Just don't say anything you'll come to regret.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You really must never again relegate family affairs to the position they occupied in the past. Whatever else is happening, you could come out of the present phase with a home that is more spacious, comfortable and luxurious than you ever imagined would be possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although planetary pressures are now easing, you may still be obliged to sort out the mess left behind by people who are just not as capable as you are at handling difficult and stressful conditions. It's important not to blame others, otherwise you may stir up an old hornet's nest.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You're still making strenuous efforts to get in control of events which have recently seemed to be getting out of hand. Now that the Moon is encouraging the part of your solar chart ruling money, business affairs should pick up, much to your relief.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It will be some time before you realise the full implication of a series of obstacles and opportunities which have been responsible for dramatic ups and downs in your personal life. This is probably not the best time to seek revenge for a past wrong.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
One way or another you'll soon be able to gain a fresh perspective on a number of occurrences which are only now coming to light. You might feel that a certain person has a great deal to answer for. However, the deeper truth might be a long time coming.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's too early to suggest that calmer times are about to return, if only because excitable friends are liable to make mountains out of even the most insignificant molehills. You still need to juggle your various commitments, and you may soon have to turn down an enticing offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
One result of Neptune's benevolent presence in your chart is that you're becoming known for your compassionate nature, and this may be just what is needed at the present time when friends are coming to you with their worries and fears. But don't forget your own very vital concerns.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Jupiter, your wise and generous ruling planet has recently survived a series of unnerving planetary aspects, leaving you a little bit older and definitely much wiser. New friends might be responsible for some disturbances, but that often happens with people who don't know you as well as they think.

NORTH EAST ZONE PWD BHAWAN, KALABURAGI

KALYAN KARNATAKA'S PRIDE

In an yet another milestone in the development of infrastructure facilities in the backward Kalyana Karnataka region, an elegant looking mammoth all-inclusive complex housing all the Public Works Department offices with all modern facilities including lifts, multiple meeting halls and other facilities has come up in the heart of Kalaburagi city.

The grand building constructed in the sprawling 3.27 acres of prime land in the old Jewargi Road, replacing the old Executive Engineer's office of the Public Works Department, was formally inaugurated by Chief Minister Mr B S Yediyurappa on July 10 in the presence of the Deputy Chief Minister Mr Govind M Karjol, who also holds the Public Works Department Portfolio and other dignitaries.

The new PWD Complex, housing the offices of the Chief Engineer, Superintendent Engineer, Executive Engineers and other officers of the Public Works Department, stands tall as an example of the state government's commitment for the development of the region and providing the necessary infrastructure backup to all the government departments in the backward region.

Kalaburagi City becomes the second only after Bengaluru to have a grand PWD Office complex with all hi-tech facilities housing all the Public Works Department offices at one place. This would go long way in providing the much needed accessibility to all the Public Works Offices at one place to the general public and PWD contractors in particular.

The complex constructed in 1.62 lakh square feet would house 12 independent offices and this complex has five auditorium-cum-meeting halls with a seating capacity of 80 persons. These five auditorium-8meeting halls are fully air conditioned and has state of the art sound system including the individual microphones in all the tables and dias. Apart from this the complex also houses three small sized meeting halls with all the latest facilities.

The complex would also enable the top officials of the department to conduct review and other official meetings in the complex itself. When compared to the facilities made available in the Kalaburagi PWD Complex and the facilities available in a similar complex in Bengaluru, the Kalaburagi PWD complex is far superior adopting latest technology.

The inauguration of the new PWD Complex has not only ensured that all the offices of the PWD functioned under one roof, but also saved the government several lakhs as rent paid every year to the private buildings where some of these offices have been housed. Many of these departments functioning in the private buildings were located in inaccessible locations and housed in rickety buildings. But this new complex has made life easy for the common people approaching the Public Works department with different works by functioning under one roof.

One of the important features of the cellar and one plus three storey new PWD complex was that a provision has been made for the installation of the solar panels on the roof of the complex to meet all the future power requirement of the entire complex and make it a green building of the future. The complex also has one of the finest rainwater harvesting structure in the state using the latest technology. Apart from this to meet the water requirements of the entire complex, six water tanks with a total capacity of 25,000 litres has been constructed this would also meet the requirements of the fire fighting in emergencies.

Another feature of this beautiful building was that all the floors have been provided with the hi-speed internet connectivity. Inter-connectivity from one office to another office in the building and moving from one floor to another has been made further made easy with a lift which has a carrying capacity of maximum 13 persons at a time in this ergonomically designed building.

The complex would house the office of the Chief Engineer, Superintendent Engineering, Executive Engineer, Assistant Executive Engineer, Office of the Executive Engineer of the National Highways, Office of the Superintendent Engineer Quality Assurance Circle (PWD), Executive Engineer KRDCL, Assistant Executive Engineering Electrical Sub Division (PWD), Executive Engineer Quality Assurance Division, Public works Department, Assistant Executive Engineer, Quality Assurance Sub Division Public Works Department.

The construction of this Rs 83 Crore worth complex was made possible due to the individual interest taken in the project by the Chief Minister Mr B S Yediyurappa and the Deputy Chief Minister Mr Govind M Karjol who also holds the Public Works Department portfolio. Mr Govind M Karjol in particular took keen interest in ensuring quality construction at every stage and use quality material in the construction by conducting regular review meeting to review the progress of the construction of the complex.

The state government has ensured that this Aesthetically constructed complex also has a sprawling garden to provide greener look and the planting of the fruit bearing and other tree varieties is in progress now and the garden would also have a beautiful space for developing a flower garden.

Another feature of the complex was that care has been taken to ensure enough parking space for the people visiting the complex to park their vehicle in the entire space in the cellar of the complex. At present the complex has a facility to park 60 cars and 200 motorcycles and scooters at a time.

CO-OPERATION Minister S T Somashekhar on Wednesday said the Karnataka Government will decide on waiving loans of farmers who succumbed to Covid-19 by the end of this week. If the government decides to go ahead with the plan, loans worth Rs 79.47 crore, availed by 10,187 farmers who have succumbed to Covid-19 so far, will be waived.

The minister also added that a meeting will be called for with the apex bank executive board to arrive at a decision. The Cooperation Department has put together a district-wise list of farmers who succumbed to Covid-19 and the loans they have availed from cooperative societies, primary agricultural credit societies (PACs), district central cooperative (DCC) banks, etc.

"The Chief Minister has already considered the move and a decision will be taken in four days. Farmer welfare during the pandemic is our priority and necessary action will be taken. The CM wants to help families of farmers who have succumbed to Covid-19," minister Somashekhar told reporters on Wednesday.

AT SUVARNA SOUDHA

Siddu for session in Belagavi, Covid-19 may play spoilsport

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@Bengaluru

AT a time when there is a demand from various quarters to hold the monsoon session of the legislature at the Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi, sources in the government indicate that it is not keen on the idea as it needs time to ramp up infrastructure in the building owing to the prevailing Covid-19 pandemic.

The monsoon session is likely to be held in August.

Built at a cost of over Rs 400 crore, the mammoth structure in Belagavi has hosted sessions only for seven times in the last one decade.

Leader of the Opposition Siddaramaiah, too, has joined the likes of Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti, demanding that the ensuing session be convened in Belagavi.

In a letter to Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa and Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri on Wednesday, Siddaramaiah said that as per Sections 3 and 4 of the Karnataka Conduct of Government Business in the State Legislature Act, 2005, a session should be called in July.

However, speaking to The New Indian Express, a senior BJP leader said the government is unlikely to hold a session in Belagavi this year due to Covid-19.

"We do not have the required set-up at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha. At Vidhana Soudha, we have already conducted sessions during Covid-19. We have the required infrastructure to ensure that members and others follow Covid norms. It is time-consuming to set up the same infrastructure at Suvarna Soudha. The government has so far not done anything in this regard," the leader said.

Speaker Kageri had earlier said the government will decide when and where the session will be held. The last session was held in March.

Citing rules, Siddaramaiah said at least four sessions of the legislature should be held in a year — 15 days in January, 20 days in March, 15 days in July and 10 days in November. But the government convened the legislature for only 31 days in 2020 and for 20 days in 2021, the former chief minister rued.

Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah said the government has failed to tackle the second wave of Covid-19. "Now, people are reeling under the fear of the third wave and they are not getting vaccines. There is no information on how the government is going to tackle the third wave. There is rampant corruption also. To discuss these issues, the government has to call for a legislature session," he said.

Citing floods and Covid-19, sessions were not held in Suvarna Soudha for the last three years. Annually, a sum of Rs 5 crore is spent towards maintaining the structure.

Govt unveils bike taxi scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO ensure affordable first- and last-mile connectivity in Bengaluru and other cities in the state, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday unveiled the Karnataka Electric Bike Taxi scheme-2021. This will serve as a bridge between public transport and daily commuters, the CM said.

"The Karnataka Electric Bike Taxi Scheme-2021 will boost self-employment, promote eco-friendly environment, fuel conservation, strengthen public transport and encourage establishing related industries," the CM said. The distance between the origin and destination for a trip shall not be more than 10 km, and the authority concerned will decide, from time to time, the routes that shall be excluded from the operation of the bike taxis.

The scheme aims to reduce travel time and inconvenience in reaching bus, railway and metro stations. It will allow people, partnership firms and companies to participate. The authority concerned will issue licences under this scheme.

Vehicles registered under this scheme will be in the transport category for which the government has given several exemptions like permits, tax and financial benefits for electric vehicles manufacturers, the CM said.

The scheme will come into force on the date of its publication in the Official Gazette and shall apply only for the battery-operated electric motorcycles or electric bikes.

Only spoke of likely damage to KRS: Sumalatha

Mandya MP Sumalatha inspects the Krishnaraja Sagar reservoir across the Cauvery river on Wednesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

IN a series of flip-flops, Mandya MP Sumalatha, who had claimed damage to the structure of the Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) reservoir, on Wednesday said she never spoke of any crack, but was only questioning the officials about possible damage owing to illegal mining in the region.

Later in the day, in another contradictory statement in Mandya, Sumalatha brushed aside criticism of a 'U-turn' and claimed that the KRS structure was indeed damaged, but they were small wear-and-tear cavities or air gaps, repaired through grating. She went on to praise the officials for doing a commendable job in rectifying it.

This comes at a time when there has been a political slugfest between the MP and JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy over the dam's safety and "illegal mining" around it. Also, Sumalatha's claims of cracks on KRS were refuted by the Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Ltd as well as by District Minister K C Narayana Gowda.

Justifying her statement, Sumalatha said that she was concerned about large cracks appearing on the KRS in the future due to illegal mining and added that only an expert study can confirm it. "Should we wait, risking our safety? That is why I have requested for a ban on such quarrying in the 20km radius of KRS, which can be lifted, if needed, after a detailed certification," she said, adding that she is not against such activities being carried out legally.

Meanwhile, when the MP was asked why she is not questioning the government on not cracking down on illegal quarrying and about the safety of the dam, she played it down and said that her job was to put out proof about issues. She also visited Baby Betta, a quarrying site, and also the KRS reservoir for inspection.

Team will look into dam safety, says Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

REVENUE Minister R Ashoka on Wednesday said that a team, headed by the Mandya district Deputy Commissioner, will inspect the Krishnaraja Sagar reservoir and submit a detailed report to the government after Mandya MP Sumalatha raised apprehensions of cracks in the dam structure.

Irrigation department officials, the Home Minister and even the Mysuru MP have clarified that there are no cracks or threats to the reservoir. But the Mandya MP has reiterated that there is damage and hence, a report on the safety of the dam is being sought, he said. Statements about cracks in the reservoir may push people living downstream into fear and cause worry for the farming community, the minister added.

Stressing that the government is against illegal mining, the minister said it will not be allowed at Baby Betta if it poses a threat to the KRS dam, which is the lifeline of the people of Mysuru, Mandya and Bengaluru. He also said action will be taken against those indulging in illegal mining, however they are influential. "For us, Krishnaraja Sagar is most important," he added.

On Sumalatha alleging that illegal mining is carried out on revenue land, he said that the government is not against development and will not come in the way of quarries operating with valid permission. The government has launched a 'podi' (land document) drive across the state where Revenue Department officials visit the village and set right any lapses in records after surveying the land and help farmers get RTCs. This will also help Lambani thandas, nomadic tribes and other villages to be declared as revenue villages and enable them to get all benefits from the government. The village visits by Deputy Commissionersis a hit and has evoked good response, he claimed.

Trouble in Badami, Siddaramaiah runs into angry constituents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OPPOSITION leader Siddaramaiah, who was touring his constituency Badami, had a harrowing ordeal after he was nearly gheraoed on Tuesday by an angry group of his constituents, most of whom raised slogans against him and criticized him.

He was heckled by about 30-40 angry residents, many of them women, and had to be rescued by some policemen who formed a human shield and escorted him to safety.

After a programme in Parvati Ganjkere area, where rejuvenation of tanks was being planned, some residents of nearby Hosur village threatened to gherao him, as they wanted an MSIL liquor shop closed. They had petitioned Siddaramaiah but he had not helped them close it. Some women even squatted on the way to prevent him from leaving. But a police escort team quickly formed a human shield around him to ensure he did not get hurt, and escorted him to his vehicle. This issue was in addition to the litany of complaints that Siddaramaiah was not physically present in the constituency to redress their grievances.

Siddaramaiah moved to Badami in 2018 to contest elections when he got wind that a win was not likely in Chamundeshwari. Sources said if things get worse, Siddaramaiah may have to look out for another constituency. When there was recent speculation that Siddaramaiah would contest from Chamarajpet, he ruled it out.

Priyank Kharge questions state govt's plans for SC entrepreneurs

ENS @Bengaluru

FORMER Minister for Social Welfare, IT and Tourism Department, Priyank Kharge, has questioned the State Government's commitment to encouraging Scheduled Caste entrepreneurs in the state.

"Minister for Social Justice and Empowerment says the government will encourage SC entrepreneurs, but the State Government has almost stopped India's biggest SC/ST entrepreneurshipprogramme, SAMRUDDHI," Kharge stated.

He was responding to Union Minister of State A Narayanaswamy's remarks in a recent interview to TNIE.

Kharge said 33,675 people had applied when the programme was started and 2,2140 were found to be eligible. After two-and-half years, the government has not given grants to even 5,000 of them, he said and added that Rs 225 crore was allocated in 2018-19, Rs 30 crore in 2019-20 and no allocation was made in 2020-21. Under the programme, Rs 10 lakh is given to each beneficiary to start a business. "There is no point in talking about entrepreneurship without allocating funds. The government has to either create jobs or create opportunities for people who want to create jobs. Entrepreneurs have to be seen as job creators. Instead of giving them loans, give them grants," said Kharge. An officer of the Social Welfare Department said the target was to give the grants to 630 applicants selected under the scheme and it had already funded 360 of them, while another 108 are about to open their businesses.

'Blaming oil bonds for high fuel price a sloppy excuse'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Congress on Wednesday accused the Union Government of poor economic management and failing to contain price rise and said it has resulted in poverty increasing in the country.

Speaking to reporters here on Wednesday, AICC national spokesperson Supriya Shrinate said the Congress will raise the matter in Parliament. Demanding substantial reduction in fuel prices, review of import duties and rationalisation of GST, she said the Congress will also raise the issue of high inflation in Parliament.

She rubbished Centre's claims that fuel prices could not be reduced due to oil bonds from the UPA era and called it "sloppy excuses". The Covid-19 pandemic and economic mismanagement have rendered crores of people jobless, reduced wages and left many impoverished. "Instead of putting money in the hands of people, this insensitive government is forcing them to pay more for basic things," she said. She claimed that 23 crore people have slipped below the poverty line, forcing Indians to withdraw almost Rs 1.25 lakh crore out of their provident fund savings. "The latest reading of inflation is alarming. Retail inflation is well above the RBI's target of 6% at nearly 6.3%," she said, adding that the high inflation was due to the Centre's greed, exploitation and gross economic mismanagement besides profiteering by levying cesses and high import duties.

"The Congress will raise the issue of high inflation burdening the common man in the forthcoming session of the Parliament and demand a full discussion on the subject as well as substantial relief for the people of India," she added.

Not a good sign: Drop in active cases slows down

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

WHILE the number of active cases in Karnataka has been dropping, and the state is in third position in India with active cases, a comparative analysis shows the decline is slowing down, unlike the previous weeks in July and June, when the drop was more rapid.

On June 29, the active rate decreased by 11.88 per cent, dropping to 85,997 cases, from 97,592 cases on June 28. On June 30, a further drop of 11.03 per cent was seen, at 76,504 active cases. A steeper fall by 14.63 was seen on July 1, with 65,312 cases, and 53,871 active cases were reported on July 2, with a 17.51% drop. But from July 8, with 38,729 active cases, the percentage of decline is lower at only 2.2%, and July 12 saw only 1.08% decrease with 34,858 cases, July 13 saw a decline of 1.79% with 34,234 active cases, and on July 14, the drop was only 1.72%, with 33,462 active cases.

The slackening in decrease of active cases is also seen in the number of days taken to fall from one landmark to the other. For instance, it took just five days for active cases to fall below 1 lakh on June 28, to below 50,000 on July 3. However, 11 days since falling below the 50K-mark, the number of active cases stands at 33,642 on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, experts are attributing this to the drop in number of daily discharges. From reporting over 14,337 discharges on July 2, the daily discharge numbers have fallen below 3,000.

Taking care of vulnerable kids first step to stave off third wave

Giving children influenza shot, vaccinating all adults, could even end the pandemic

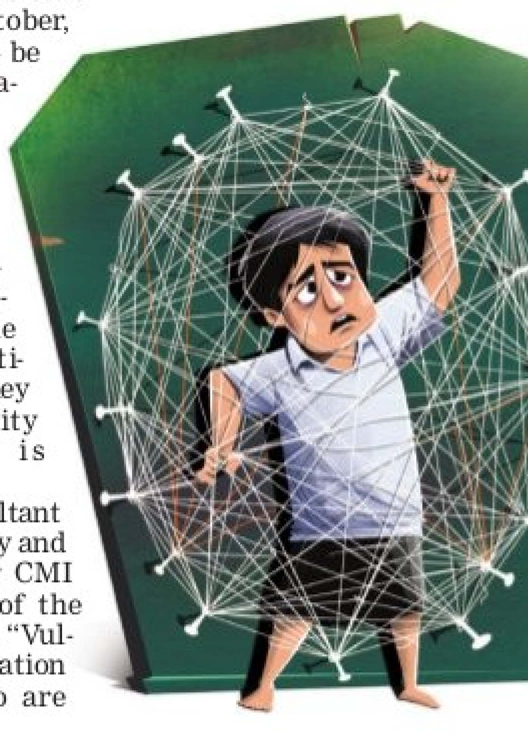
IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

IN preparation for the predicted third wave of the Covid-19 pandemic, experts have pointed out that the government should identify the vulnerable among children, and make arrangements for their protection on priority, including vaccinating them.

The third wave is predicted to hit in September-October, and children are said to be largely affected as a majority of the adult population will be vaccinated by then. However, the vaccine for children — the Zydus Covid vaccine — is yet to get approval for use. Hence, experts say that vulnerable children need to be identified at the earliest, so they are vaccinated on priority when the vaccine is approved.

Dr Srikanta J T, Consultant - Paediatric Pulmonology and Sleep Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital and member of the Covid-19 task force, said, "Vulnerable paediatric population includes children who are overweight or obese, children with underlying medical conditions like diabetes, renal diseases, chronic lung issues, hematological conditions like sickle cell disease and neurological conditions."

Non-government organisations work with these kids and maintain a database of the vulnerable group. If the government can access this data and vaccinate them on priority basis, it will mitigate the risk of these children contracting the dreaded disease. He said vulnerable children can also be given already available vaccines like the influenza shot, which is similar.



Dr Sayed Mujahid Husain, Consultant Paediatrician & Neonatologist, Good Will Children's Clinic, Bengaluru, said the most susceptible group is kids who have underlying comorbidities like asthma, allergic rhinitis, rheumatoid arthritis, chronic kidney-related issues and other immunodeficiency disorders.

"Parents must make sure that such vulnerable children are taken care of with utmost precautions, like ensuring they are on regular medication as prescribed, healthy nutrition, hygiene and regular health check-ups." he said.

Dr Srikanta stated that if there is a tailor-made vaccine for children aged up to 18, with good immunogenicity, efficacy and safety profile, then vaccinating them in a very short span of time will not only reduce their exposure to risk in the third wave, but also probably end the pandemic (if at least 70 per cent of adults are vaccinated).

Meanwhile, Dr Rakshay Shetty, Head, Paediatric Intensive Care Services, Rainbow Children's Hospital, Marathahalli, said children less than one year and more than 12 years old, tend to be affected with severe forms of Covid. "However, post-Covid complications, like Multisystem Inflammatory Syndrome in Children (MIS-C) appears to affect healthy children, mostly above 5 years of age. It affects 1 in 50,000 children, and 2/3rd of them need ICU admission.

If recognised early, they have good outcomes if treated correctly. The best way to keep children safe is to ensure that adults take vaccine shots. That will decrease circulation of the virus in the community. Everyone, including vaccinated adults, should continue wearing masks and follow physical distancing whenever possible, he said.

Kodagu district utilises every drop of vaccine, records negative wastage

PRAJNA GR @Madikeri

WHILE over one lakh vaccines doses said to have been wasted across Karnataka, Kodagu district recorded negative vaccine wastage, amid acute shortage of supplies to the district. With no supply coming in, the district will not inoculate citizens at any health centre on Thursday. The district health department has enabled 9,441 extra doses of Covishield (until Wednesday) and recorded 4.5 per cent of extra doses of Covishield. However, it recorded minimum wastage of 0.9 per cent of Covaxin doses.

Each vial of Covishield has 10ml vaccine and ideally enables vaccination of 10 doses. However, district health department officials and staff have judicially utilised the vials, as a maximum of 12 doses have been enabled from some vials. As per statistics, a total of 2,08,901 residents have been vaccinated with Covishield in Kodagu. However, these people have been vaccinated using 19,946 vials, that ideally contain 1,99,460 doses. "The company fills some vials with extra 2ml vaccine and we have utilised these extra doses," said a staffer. However, wastage of Covaxin vials stands at 0.9 per cent, with the health staff confirming that many 20ml vials of Covaxin had less than 20 doses, yet, this had to be calculated as wastage. Nevertheless, the district attained negative wastage of vaccines, and overall rate of extra doses enabled till date stands at 3.8 per cent.

Kids of second wife can get job, says HC

Court observes it's for Parliament to bring about uniformity in law vis-a-vis legitimacy of children

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court ruled that children of second wife are eligible to get job on compassionate grounds. A division bench of Justice BV Nagarathna and Justice Hanchate Sanjeevkumar passed the order while allowing the appeal filed by K Santhosha of Kadavekere of Kanakapura taluk in Ramanagara district.

"No child is born in this world without a father and a mother. A child has no role to play in her/his birth. Hence, law should recognise the fact that there may be illegitimate parents, but not illegitimate children. Therefore, it is for the Parliament to bring about uniformity in law vis-a-vis legitimacy of children," the court observed.

Before the single judge, the appellant challenged the rejection of his application seeking appointment on compassionate basis under the Karnataka Electricity Board Employees' Recruitment (Appointment on Compassionate Grounds) Regulations, after the death of his father Kabbalaiah, who was working as Lineman Grade-II in Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (Bescom).

The application was rejected by the Bescom in 2015, based on the ground of the circular issued by Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited (KPTCL) on September 23, 2011, stating that "under no circumstances, the second wife nor her children are eligible for compassionate grounds appointment, if the marriage has taken place during the subsistence of the first marriage." The court also quashed the impugned circular as well as communication issued by Bescom rejecting his application and directed them to consider the application made by the appellant within two months, as his father died seven years ago.

Activist files complaint with ACB against CM, kin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A fresh complaint was lodged against CM BS Yediyurappa and five others, including his family members, alleging corruption in appointment to the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB), and receiving illegal gratification to the tune of Rs 60 crore, to clear files.

Abraham TJ, president of Anti-Graft & Environmental Forum, filed a complaint with the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) on Wednesday. The complaint is against Yediyurappa, former KSPCB Chairman M Sudheendra Rao, Bengaluru Urban Zilla Panchayat member and CM's relative G Mariswamy, Yediyurappa's son and vice-president of Karnataka BJP unit BY Vijayendra, grandson Shashidhar Maradi, and Sanjay Sree, son-in-law of Yediyurappa's daughter Padmavathi Virupakshappa.

The complaint is based on an alleged statement given by Sudheendra Rao to a regional TV channel, where he claimed that he had paid an advance of Rs 9.75 crore as bribe, of the agreed amount of Rs 16 crore, to the CM, for his appointment as KSPCB chairman in December 2019. The alleged deal was conveyed through the CM's relative, Mariswamy. It is also alleged that Yediyurappa appointed Rao, though the latter did not meet the qualifications specified by the Ministry of Environment.

Abraham has demanded that an FIR be registered under the Prevention of Corruption Act for seeking a bribe, illegal receipt of bribe, illegal clearance of around 60 files, and collection of around Rs 60 crore. An ACB official said the complaint has been received.

NEET ROW: NOW, BALL IN TN GOVT'S COURT

High-level panel submits report, says many are against test

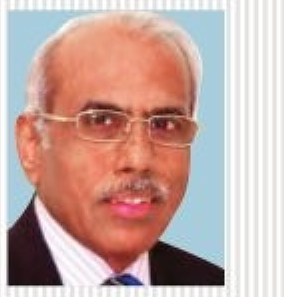
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE State government's steps towards abolishing the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET) are likely to gain momentum in the coming days since the high-level committee, headed by retired judge AK Rajan, on Wednesday submitted its 165-page report and recommendations on the exam's impact in medical admissions in Tamil Nadu, to Chief Minister MK Stalin.

Based on the report, the State government may move a resolution in the Assembly seeking exemption for NEET in Tamil Nadu and send it to the Union government as well as to the President. The government may also initiate other legal steps to abolish NEET, based on the report.

Speaking to reporters at the Secretariat, Justice AK Rajan said, "Most people who gave their views to the committee said that NEET is not needed for Tamil Nadu on various counts. We have given certain recommendations to the government. We can't reveal them to the media now. There are many issues like social justice, economical and legal issues etc. We have given a detailed report on the impact of the NEET on various spheres."

Asked whether the committee has reiterated the judge's view that the NEET case should be argued on the basis of the Tamil Nadu Admission in Professional Educational Institutions Act, 2006, which abolished all entrance examinations, he assented, adding that he has been saying this for a long time.



We have not expressed our individual views on the matter, but submitted the report to the government based on the data collected

Justice (retd) AK Rajan

He further stated that the admission of rural students before the introduction of NEET and its status after are part of the report.

"The views of all those who submitted their representations to the committee were taken into consideration. Some are of the view that NEET could be conducted only for this year and a few others wished that NEET could be conducted for two years. We have not expressed our individual views on the matter, but submitted the report based on data collected," Justice Rajan added.

On Tuesday, the Madras High Court had upheld the constitution of the committee, in a petition filed by BJP State general secretary Karu Nagarajan.

Welcoming the verdict, the Chief Minister had said, "Once the committee submits its report, the government would take next steps against the NEET continuously. Since the date for NEET has been notified for this year, students are in a situation to face the examination now. It is indeed regrettable. However, we will definitely put a full stop to the NEET."

'Officials must check if tourists are vaxxed'

PRABHU Patil, a social activist from Hampi, said that locals are happy that business is coming back to normal, but they are worried that the administration has not been strict in ensuring that the tourists adhere to Covid rules.

"Several tourists are coming from Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh, where the cases are still high. Officials should check RT-PCR test reports or vaccination certificates more thoroughly," he added. Since the pandemic broke out last year, Hampi was shut twice for tourists. During the second wave of Covid, Hampi was closed for more than two months. After the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) announced the opening of monuments in Karnataka in mid-June, the tourist numbers went up.

"Authorities are planning to set up more homestays near Hampi. The locals will also be roped in," Prabhu Patil said.

RIGHT U'KHAND MOVE ON KANWAR YATRA, PUT HEALTH ABOVE POLLS

The Uttarakhand government's decision to cancel the annual Kanwar Yatra needs to be lauded. The event draws about 120 lakh participants, far more than the officially estimated 40 lakh devotees who thronged the Mahakumbh Mela held at Haridwar from April 1 to 30. The Kumbh Mela, as has been well documented now, was disastrous for the hill state, causing a sharp spike in Covid-19 cases. Prior to the event on March 31, the total number of active cases in Uttarakhand was 1,863. This went up to 49,492, a massive jump of 2,600%, by the time the mela officially ended. The Kanwar Yatra had the potential to be a similar health disaster and its cancellation has quite rightly been applauded across all sections. But while the state government was bold to call this event off, it did not show similar resolve on the Char Dham Yatra just days earlier. The High Court suspended this annual event citing the ongoing pandemic, but the Uttarakhand government moved the Supreme Court last week, challenging the cancellation. The state needs to heed the counsel of health experts.

The double standard of the authorities is also evident in the Uttar Pradesh government's decision to press ahead with the Kanwar Yatra in its state from July 25. Although the state has said it will strictly enforce all Covid norms, it must not be forgotten that such assurances were given by Uttarakhand as well for the Kumbh Mela. Quite clearly, UP's decision is dictated by political exigencies as elections are due next year. Given the state's polity where religious polarisation, cultural typecasting and caste schisms run deep, the BJP perhaps apprehends that cancelling the Yatra will hurt its faith-based politics. But it must remember that while the pursuit of power is the objective of politics, governance has to rise above such narrow gains. The pandemic cannot be defeated by electoral compulsions as the virus does not differentiate between religion, caste, creed or region. If political leaders are duplicitous and don't set the bar for Covid-appropriate behaviour, the common man can hardly be blamed for throwing all caution to the wind and heading for hill stations.

POLITICS OF POWER IN ODISHA & BEYOND

Power politics is raging once again. Be it tariffs, waivers or subsidies, parties are busy capitalising on it in states where polls are drawing close. In Odisha, a power-surplus state, the Naveen Patnaik government finds itself in a tough spot with the Opposition trying to corner it over the recent tariff hike. A 5.6% increase for all categories of consumers, barring BPL and irrigation, came into effect in April. The murmurs of discontent against the raise have now snowballed into a full-blown political fight. The BJP has announced a statewide agitation seeking a rollback. It has trained its guns at the government, which it said pumped in hundreds of crores into reviving the power sector that suffered at the hands of natural calamities, whereas distribution companies still rue the poor infrastructure. The saffron party has also sought a white paper on the matter whereas the ruling BJD chose to brush aside the charges saying the BJP is trying to take away attention from the issue of fuel price hike. A number of BJP-ruled states too have hiked the energy rates, the BJD said.

Interestingly, the politics of power seems to have spilled on to Odisha from northern Indian states where Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal is hogging all attention. Days after the BJP promised free power for the first 100 units in Uttarakhand, the AAP boss visited the state and announced free power up to the first 300 units if his party wins next year. Interestingly, the AAP was at the centre of controversy for seeking closure of 10 thermal power plants in three states to reduce pollution. Punjab, one of the three states in question, is passing through political turmoil and an unprecedented power crisis is only fuelling the fire. The Amarinder Singh government is not just facing a huge energy shortage but also an embarrassing situation with veiled attacks from party-mate and former minister Navjot Singh Sidhu over power purchase agreements the previous government had signed.

In the last five years, India has seen a tremendous growth in energy security and access. The politics has now shifted from the issue of dependable power supply to the costs of accessing power. Its further course will be determined by the outcome of the state polls later this year.

Unfortunately, the narrative these days suggests that while winning is an all-important end, crushing the 'other' is equally crucial. Politics and business are really not the same as war

WHO SAID COMPETITORS CAN'T COLLABORATE?

BUILDING BUSINESSES

In this series about organisational transformation, I assert that particularly when a crisis is large, competitive players must consider collaborating. When I mentioned this recently, the responses were interesting—from 'great idea' to 'theoretical' to 'there is no real-life example of competitors co-operating'. From my repertoire of stories on collaborative competitors, I offer some examples. In these times of increasingly competitive politics and enterprise, there are relevant lessons.

Politics and business are really not the same as war. They are not games of winners and losers. A "China-free world" or a "Republican-free America" are both silly ideas. Unfortunately, a motivational narrative has developed that winning is not only all-important, but decimating or crushing competition is equally crucial.

In 1959, octogenarian Somerset Maugham is reported to have said, "It is not enough to succeed, others must fail." This was made memorable during the 1996 Olympics by the Nike Air television advertisement, starring basketball player Lisa Leslie saying, "You don't win silver, you lose gold." The new mantra for e-commerce start-ups of 'winners take all' is announced periodically. New unicorns with irrational valuations are lauded at regular intervals. The absence of family planning among the community of unicorns causes me economic concerns.

Politics and business are not about annihilating competition. They are not zero-sum games as pointed out by Simon Sinek in The Infinite Game. Many areas of human endeavour involve multiple interdependent variables. Simple decisions that ignore the total system effect are counterproductive. That is why game theory offers great insight. Read the fascinating 1996 book Co-opetition that identified five elements in a game, with the acronym PARTS—Players, Added-values, Rules, Tactics and Scope.

Some examples:

On 9 January 2009, Ramalinga Raju, Chairman and CEO of Satyam, admitted that he had undertaken a massive fraud, news that shook the foundations of the upcoming Indian software industry and its relations with worldwide clients. Recently, I had occasion to listen to The Satyam Saga, a rich discussion hosted on Live History. Its founder Mini Menon interviewed three key players who were deeply involved in resolving the crisis—Kiran Karnik, Ganesh Natarajan (former president and incumbent chairman respectively of NASSCOM) and C P Gurnani, CEO of Tech Mahindra, the company that bought Satyam. Kiran Karnik has also written The Coalition of Competitors.

Five important lessons for engaging in successful co-opetition:

i. Do not lose time proving that this crisis is unique and rare. Every crisis is unique and rare.

ii. Do not waste time finding who is at fault. Act fast and with a strong feedback loop to correct inevitable mistakes.

iii. Bring in proven and broad leaders to sort out the problem, not just domain or technical experts.

iv. Focus communication on employees who are bound to feel insecure. Exhort, persuade, cajole players that cooperation can expand the pie for all. Later, competition will determine how to divide the expanded pie. Some players will act out of line, but many do heed this.

v. Be respectful of and invoke the help of the whole ecosystem—government, employees, customers, players and bureaucrats. For example, in the Satyam resolution, the key players were Secretary, Company Affairs Anurag Goel; Nasscom President Som Mittal; HDFC Chairman Deepak Parekh; bureaucrats Achuthan and Manoharan; just to name a few.

Here are other examples of co-opetition:

In 1982, Lipton India was in a financial crisis. As its only competitor at that time, Brooke Bond India was concerned. Chairman C S Samuel persuaded Unilever to avoid winding up Lipton India. Why? Because his company needed Lipton's competition. In 2005, Toyota Motors Chairman Hiroshi Okuda took positive steps to save General Motors from the combined onslaught of Toyota, Honda and Nissan in the US automobile market. In India's current telecom market, can three players show such statesmanship?

In 1995, Nelson Mandela wore the Springboks all-white rugby team jersey to dilute memories of apartheid in a tormented South Africa. Recall the summer of 1996, when the shaky Narasimha Rao government felt compelled in the national interest to buy Sukhoi-30 aircraft from Russia. Journalist Shekhar Gupta has narrated how, through deft interventions and collaborative consultations, some arch-rivals collaborated—Congress's Narasimha Rao, BJP's Jaswant Singh and Vajpayee, and SP's Mulayam Singh—to avert public controversy. Players in the Rafale fighter purchase may please note.

Biographer Dorothy Kearns Goodwin wrote about how the American Republic in the 1860s was saved by Abraham Lincoln and his rivals in A Team of Rivals. Many republics need similar saving these days.

Surely there are sane lessons to be learnt. Apply the stated five principles to how nations responded to their Covid crises. Consider how countries manage their multiethnic and multicultural populations.

KASHMIR: A FORGOTTEN HISTORY - III

SHONALEEKA KAUL
Associate Professor, Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University

In this series, we attempt to redress the glaring academic and political neglect of the longue durée historical identity of Kashmir, in particular the amnesia regarding her open, plural and founding connected histories with the rest of India. While the last time we looked at Kashmir's early archaeology, historical geography and linguistic roots—which proved to be deeply Indic—today we begin with another telling cultural marker: script.

After a brief appearance by Kharoshti on coins in Kashmir and other parts of North-West India, by the 3rd century the Brahmi script—from which the vast majority of Indian scripts today are derived—took over completely, not just in the Valley but the wider culture region. For example, 80% of the 5,000 ancient inscriptions found in Hunza, Gilgit, Chilas and the Karakoram Highway in PoK are in this quintessential Indic script. And, as the epigraphist Oskar von Hinuber tells us, the writing style shows affinities with, remarkably, Western Mathura Brahmi!

Similarly, when Sharada, the script par excellence of Kashmir, evolved from Brahmi circa 8th century, it was under the influence of Eastern Allahabad Brahmi, pointing again to astonishing connectivity. Sharada, in turn, was used beyond Kashmir across NWFP, Peshawar, Ladakh, Kangra, Chamba and Punjab right up till Delhi-Mathura.

All in all, it is obvious that Kashmir partook in shaping material and cultural formations of early India. But that's not all. She was a part of pan-Indian political formations from the very beginning too, i.e. the 3rd century BCE Mauryan Empire that stretched across the subcontinent and whose emperor Ashoka is believed to have founded the capital city of Srinagari, a local memory we hear of not only in the Rajatarangini (12th century), the 'first' history of Kashmir, but even earlier in the Chinese traveller Xuan Zang's account of his visit to the Valley (7th century). Recall that numismatists identified Mauryan imperial issues among the punch-marked coins found in Semthan, and that the iconic Shankaracharya temple in Srinagar is located at the site of the Jyestheshvara temple said to be erected by Ashoka.

Kashmir was also a part of the trans-regional Indic kingdoms of the Kushanas (2nd-3rd century) and Hunas (6th century), which extended at different points till Banaras and Malwa, respectively.

Further, kings, queens and ministers of Kashmir were drawn from and in alliance with different parts of India across the centuries. Would you believe that Kashmir and Gandhara (Peshawar) were known to be the political allies of Magadha or Bihar! Indeed Kashmir had complex marital and political histories with regions very far away and deep within the Indic mainland like Pragjyotisha (Assam), Gauda (Bengal) and Tamilakam.

For example, Meghavahana (5th century), the great grandson of an exiled king of Kashmir, was given asylum by the king of Gandhara who, in time, sent him across the length of the Himalayas to Pragjyotisha for the swayamvara of its princess. Winning her hand, Meghavahana returned loaded with wealth and the royal Vishnu parasol of the Assamese king. He was then invited by the ministers of Kashmir to ascend the throne. Similarly, Bhikshachara (12th century), a prince of Kashmir cast away at birth, grew up in the Malwa king's court in the Deccan as his adopted son. Eventually he returned to Kashmir and won back the crown.

Still other rulers from Malwa, like Pratapaditya and Matrigupta (6th-7th centuries), believed to be descendants of the legendary emperor Vikramaditya, were invited by Kashmiris to be their king, due in part to their lineage, showing Kashmir's subscription to the north Indian politico-mythic universe. Several queens of Kashmir were also drawn from remote regions including Cholamandalam (Tamil Nadu), Assam (as we saw), Andhra, Jalandhara (Punjab) and Kalanjara (Madhya Pradesh).

Complementing the diverse nature of Kashmiri royalty was the eclectic composition of other ruling elites over the centuries. King Lalitaditya (8th century), known as the universal (sarvabhauma) ruler, had a Tuhkhara spiritual advisor; Jayapida's (6th century) chamberlain was the ruler of Mathura; Anantadeva's (10th century) jester was from the Ganga plains while his ministers were from Kangra and, again, Malwa.

Interestingly, in the service of King Harsha (11th century) were people from Punjab and also far-off Karnataka. Indeed the dynamic, if quixotic, Harsha spectacularly introduced Kannada couture in the royal court at Srinagar, and also a new coin type depicting the elephant—an emblem far removed from Kashmiri ecology and imagination—obviously under Kannada inspiration. What an incredibly open and cosmopolitan land Kashmir was!

Not just that, the Rajatarangini tells us that several Kashmiri rulers undertook military expeditions deep into the subcontinent. Most notably, Lalitaditya undertook conquests in north and east India, including against Kanyakubja (Kanauj, UP), the symbol of imperial sovereignty in early medieval times that was also coveted by the Rashtrakutas of Maharashtra, Pratiharas of Rajasthan and Palas of Bengal. But while we famously hear in history textbooks of this "tripartite struggle" over Kanauj, Kashmir is never mentioned! This is despite the fact that Lalitaditya's coins have been found in large hoards from half-a-dozen places in UP and Bihar, reaffirming the political and commercial presence of Kashmiris in the Ganga valley.

Thus, Kashmir's internal politics did not occur in isolation at all but was a porous process from the beginning, inextricably tied up with other regions of the Indian subcontinent, near and far. This squares with, and must have flowed into and out of, the social and cultural interconnectedness of early Kashmir and the rest of India that we survey in this series.

Prioritising people's lives

The Uttarakhand government's decision to cancel the Kanwar Yatra is welcome. They have given human life and safety the highest priority in view of a possible third wave of Covid. It would be good if the UP government does the same.

Kids shouldn't lose out

This is with reference to It's time to consider reopening schools (July 14). Students have missed out on the school atmosphere and much-needed social development for 16 months. It is high time the authorities start planning a way to reopen schools. Students should not be losers in the long run.
Parthasarathy Mandadi, Tirupati

Expedite school reopening

The indefinite closure of schools deprives children not only of proper learning for a substantial period of time but also some inherent values that can only be imbibed physically. This deprivation is worse among the underprivileged. As the author has pointed out, vaccination of school children does not seem to be needed as a precondition for opening schools. So the suggestion to expedite it merits consideration.
Dharmarajan A K Thalassery

Don't make hasty decisions

Authorities closed down schools necessitating online education for a reason. While it is true that online education has its disadvantages, classroom education should be resumed only after the current pandemic wave abates completely and the predicted subsequent one has been ruled out convincingly.

Rescued India many times

The untimely passing of Indian cricketer Yashpal Sharma at the age of 66 is shocking. He was a gritty, dependable middle-order batsman and has rescued India from defeat on many occasions. He often did not get the credit due to him. India has lost a fine cricketer and individual. May he rest in peace.

Crisis man will be missed

Yashpal Sharma was a player who performed well under pressure. He played a vital role in India's famous 1983 World Cup win and will be remembered for that. He did his job as a national selector in his later years very well and stood firmly by former captain Sourav Ganguly during the Greg Chappell controversy. The crisis man shall be dearly missed.

Bring fuel under GST

The high fuel prices have added to the misery of people. It has a cascading effect on the prices of essential commodities. The government does not seem to be doing anything to bring down these prices. The high rate of taxes both by the Centre and states is the main reason for this situation. Unless fuel prices are brought under the ambit of GST, the situation will not improve.

SC seeks response from UP on Kanwar Yatra

Taking suo motu cognizance of green light to pilgrimage, court asks for affidavits also from Uttarakhand & Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has taken suo motu cognisance of the Uttar Pradesh government allowing the annual Kanwar Yatra amid serious concerns of a third wave of Covid-19.

A bench of Justice RF Nariman issued a notice to the Uttar Pradesh government on its decision to proceed with the Kanwar Yatra this year and slated the hearing for July 16.

"The citizens of India are completely perplexed. They don't know what is going on. And all this amid the prime minister, when asked about a third wave of Covid-19 striking the nation, saying we cannot compromise even one bit," the bench observed.

The court said it has seen in the media that the Yatra has been allowed to go ahead. Its order said: "Given the disparate stances, it is important that the Home Secretary, Union of India, respond to the media reports. Given the fact that this Yatra is to take off from July 25, it is necessary to fix a short time table. Affidavit will be filed by Friday morning by the Principal Secretary, state of Uttarakhand, Home Secretary, Union of India and Principal Secretary, state of Uttar Pradesh. This court has taken suo motu cognizance and issued notices to the state of Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand and Union of India to file response. Order to be sent to the Chief Justice of India."

The Uttar Pradesh government has allowed the annual Kanwar Yatra in the state from July 25 and officials have been asked to coordinate with neighbouring states to ensure Covid guidelines are followed.

'Kanwariyas' (devotees of Lord Shiva) collect water from River Ganga at Haridwar to offer at Shiva temples in their areas as part of the Yatra. Thousands of devotees from across the country travel on foot to collect the water.

However, the Uttarakhand government on Tuesday cancelled the Kanwar Yatra in view of the looming threat of a third wave of Covid-19. It is for the second consecutive year that the Kanwar Yatra is not being held due to the pandemic in the BJP-ruled Uttarakhand.

Afghanistan's past can't be its future, avers Jaishankar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said while addressing the meeting of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation's (SCO) contact group on Afghanistan in Dushanbe that the future of the war-torn nation cannot be its past.

"Peace negotiations in earnest is the only answer. An acceptable compromise that reflects Doha process, Moscow format and Istanbul process is essential. The future of Afghanistan cannot be its past. A whole new generation has different expectations. We should not let them down," Jaishankar tweeted.

Saying that the world was against seizure of power through violence, the external affairs minister added that such actions are not legitimate. "Cease violence and terrorist attacks against civilians and state representatives, settle conflict through political dialogue, respect interests of all ethnic groups and ensure that neighbours are not threatened by terrorism, separatism and extremism. The challenge is to act seriously and sincerely on these beliefs. Because there are forces at work with a very different agenda. The world is against seizure of power by violence and force. It will not legitimise such actions," he said.

Jaishankar urged for more negotiations in Afghanistan, a country where violence by the Taliban has seen a steep rise after the US withdrawal of troops began. Recently, the US said that over 90 per cent of its troops had been withdrawn from Afghanistan, while the Taliban claimed that over 85 per cent of the country is under its control.

"An acceptable compromise that reflects Doha process, Moscow format and Istanbul process is essential," Jaishankar said and added that there is a need to ensure that Kabul's neighbours are not threatened by terrorism.

The external affairs minister said the world, the region and the people of Afghanistan all want an independent, neutral, unified, peaceful, democratic and prosperous nation. "We should not let them down," he added.

Earlier in the day, at a meeting of the grouping that was attended by his counterparts from Pakistan and China, Jaishankar said combating terrorism and extremism is the key purpose of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) and that it must stop terror financing.

FLOUTING NORMS

'R' factor rising, Centre instructs states to act against violators

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMID concerns over an increase in the 'R' factor, or reproduction rate, of the coronavirus in some states and in view of "blatant violations" of norms in several places, the Centre on Wednesday asked states and Union Territories to take action against officials responsible for ensuring compliance to guidelines.

In advisories to all states and UTs, Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla said the second wave is not yet over and there is no room for complacency. He said Covid-appropriate behaviour is not being adhered to in public transport and massive crowds are thronging marketplaces, violating norms.

"I urge you to issue strict directions to district and local authorities to regulate crowded places and take measures for management of COVID-19. Officers should be made personally responsible for any laxity in strict enforcement of Covid--appropriate behaviour," read the Home Secretar's letter.

With decline in numbers, many states and UTs have started reopening in a gradual manner, but the process of relaxing restrictions should be carefully calibrated, Bhalla said. "Blatant violations have been observed in several parts. Massive crowds are thronging the market places, violating norms of social distancing," he said.

The increase in the R factor in some of the states is a concern, Bhalla said. The R factor indicates the speed at which the infection is spreading. R factor below 1 means each infected individual is on average passing on the disease to less than one person. "Increase in R factor above 1.0 is an indicator of spread," said Bhalla.

Ministry tells lax private vax centres to speed up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE health ministry on Wednesday expressed concern over the slow pace of procurement and administration of vaccines by private vaccination centres. Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan chaired a high-level meeting with health secretaries and senior immunisation officials of 15 states and UTs, during which areas of concern were highlighted, including delay in ordering and procurement of doses.

Bhushan pointed out that many private vaccination centres (PCVCs) have not placed any order for the earmarked quantum of vaccines. "States were advised to review the status on a daily basis and ensure that indents for the earmarked quantum are quickly placed with the private vaccine manufacturers," the ministry said.

"In some cases, no payment has been made. State governments and the PCVCs were advised to ensure that the gap between the indented quantity and payment towards reduces to zero," it said.

States and UTs which participated in the meeting were Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Odisha, Telangana, Arunachal Pradesh, Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Gujarat, West Bengal, Delhi, Punjab and Haryana. Nodal representatives from vaccine manufacturers Bharat Biotech and Serum Institute of India were also present.

In some states, the quantity of vaccines paid for has not been physically lifted by the states/PCVCs. In some states, wherever vaccine doses have been lifted by PCVCs, the actual administration of vaccines is seen to be less than the vaccine quantity lifted. Bhushan asked for the gaps to be fixed.

Can HCs direct Covid handling, asks SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday stated it would examine how far constitutional courts can venture into issues which fall within the executive domain in relation to Covid-19 management.

Justices Vineet Saran and Dinesh Maheshwari made this observation while hearing an appeal by the Uttar Pradesh government against an Allahabad High Court directing the state to ramp up medical facilities to tackle the Covid crisis.

"What we want to lay down is how far can constitutional courts venture into an issue like this. How many ambulances are there, how many oxygen beds are there. We don't want to comment on that. It's not that you cannot give suggestions, but how can you ask local companies to take vaccine formula and manufacture it? How can such directions be given?" said Justice Saran.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta informed the bench that Acting Chief Justice of Allahabad High Court is currently hearing the matter. At this, the bench allowed the high court to proceed on the issue. However, no order to set aside the May 17 order was passed by the top court since it had earlier directed that order be treated only as suggestions.

In its affidavit, the Uttar Pradesh government informed the top court it has 2,200 basic life support ambulances in addition to 250 advanced life support ambulances. The state submitted it has 289 identified community health centres with two bypass machines for each and 298 oxygen centres have been provided by the Centre. Another 20,000 concentrators are being purchased.

DELTA variant sub-lineages of AY.1 and AY.2 are unlikely to be more transmissible than Delta, according to INSACOG — a consortium of government panel engaged in genome sequencing of coronavirus.

"It is likely that neither AY.1 nor AY.2 is more transmissible than Delta. They continue to be below 1% in available sequences from June in India. There are no indications of rising trend in the four clusters (in Ratnagiri and Jalgaon in Maharashtra, Bhopal in Madhya Pradesh and Chennai in Tamil Nadu)," it said.

AY.3 has been identified as a new sub-lineage of Delta and it is defined by 'ORF1a:I3731V common AY.1 mutations except for S:417', the INSACOG said. This is primarily seen in the US, with a single reclassified case in the UK and India. The bulletin added there were no known significant properties of mutation.

"Alpha variant prevalence has declined in India and globally. Beta is at very low levels in India at this time. Gamma and Lambda are not seen in over 10,000 samples sequenced by INSACOG since May.

Top court to examine plea against sedition law

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday sought the assistance of the attorney general on an army veteran's plea to strike down the sedition law as unconstitutional and quash all proceedings under Section 124A of the IPC. The court is already hearing a petition and a clutch of applications challenging the constitutional validity of Section 124A IPC.

But the plea filed by SG Vombatkere, a former army officer, sought to quash all complaints lodged under this law and stop police from further investigating cases to the extent that the offence relates to sedition.

A three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice of India NV Ramana directed a copy of the petition to be given to attorney general KK Venugopal and posted the matter for hearing on Thursday.

"A statute criminalising expression based on unconstitutionally vague definitions of 'disaffection towards Government' is an unreasonable restriction on the fundamental right to free expression guaranteed under Article 19 (1) (a) of the Constitution and causes constitutionally impermissible 'chilling effect' on speech," the petition stated in his appeal.

Tenure of tribunal members 4 yrs

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday struck down Section 12 of Tribunal Reforms Ordinance, 2021. It fixed the tenure of members and chairperson of tribunals at four years and expressed concern over large vacancies in various tribunals and stressed that serious effort is needed from all concerned to fill up the posts and make tribunals effective in dealing with cases. The court has further held that Section 184(7) relating to recommendation of two names for each post by the SCSC and further, requiring the decision to be taken by the government preferably within three months is violative of the Constitution. The court has held that Section 184(11) prescribing tenure of four years is contrary to the principles of separation of powers, independence of judiciary, rule of law and Article 14 of the Constitution of India. The judgment was delivered by a Bench of Justices L Nageswarao Rao, Hemant Gupta and Ravindra Bhat on a plea by Madras Bar Association challenging Sections 12 and 13 of the ordinance by which Sections 184 and 186(2) of the Finance Act, 2017 was amended.

Trinamool to take the show to Delhi on Martyr's Day

A reflection of party's desire to play a bigger role in the national stage, say analysts

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee leaves after a meeting with State Governor Jagdeep Dhankar in Kolkata on Wednesday | PTI

FOR the first time Trinamool Congress will screen its Martyrs' Day rally outside West Bengal on July 21. The event, which will feature a speech by Trinamool Congress leader Mamata Banerjee will be screened in Delhi, Tripura and Assam.

The decision to screen the event outside the state comes as the party is seeking to play a bigger role on the national stage ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

"This time, the event will be screened on giant screens at TMC's office in Delhi. Our party MPs will be present there as Parliament session will begin on July 19. Our party supporters in Delhi will campaign in Delhi, highlighting the event,'' said TMC's Rajya Sabha MP Sukhendu Sekhar Roy.

The party has been organising Martyrs' Day to commemorate the 1993 incident in which 13 party supporters were gunned down by the police, during a protest rally organised under the banner of the Youth Congress and led by Mamata.

The party was formed in 1998 and since then it has been observing the event annually.

"By organising the virtual event in Delhi, we are going to deliver a message that the TMC's presence will become prominent in the national politics in 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Besides, the Northeast states like Tripura and Assam appear to be fertile ground for the party in near future,'' said a TMC leader.

Having dealt a blow to the BJP in West Bengal, the TMC is now eyeing foothold in Assam. It is also hoping to take advantage of the BJP's factional feuds in Tripura, ahead of the 2023 Asembly elections there. In 2016, six Congress MLAs from Tripura had defected to the BJP and Mukul Roy was seen as instrumental in the process. Now, there is a buzz that Roy, who recently returned to the fold of Bengal's ruling party, will be tasked with help ing the TMC grow its foothold in the Northeast.

"We will bank on factionalism in the BJP,'' said another TMC leader. Mamata is also seeking to make use of the discontent over NRC to her party's advantage in Assam. "During her campaign for the Assembly elections, she raised the issue repeatedly and extended her support to those who were left out of the NRC," said the leader.

TENSE CALM

As peace gains ground at LoC, welfare work gathers pace

MAYANK SINGH @Poonch

VILLAGES along the Line of Control (LoC) are reaping the benefits of ceasefire in effect since late February this year as development activities are picking up pace. Community classes for children have begun, electrification of villages has resumed and farming is back on its feet.

Peace at the LoC has enabled road repair work as large JCB machines are seen moving stones and filling the earth. "The machines would have been absent had ceasefire agreement not been in place," says Mohammad Yunus, a resident of Kanga village along the LoC.

This road is being built with support from various initiatives of the government such as the Border Area Development Programme and Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana. The Army pooled its own resources.

The biggest gainer of the prevailing calm is Datot, a village which has started getting electricity for the first time.

The situation was completely different months ago until February 23 this year when the Directors General Military Operations of India and Pakistan reiterated their commitment to the 2003 ceasefire agreement and decided to maintain peace at the de facto border. The area bore the brunt of Pakistan Army's small arms fire on a daily basis, forcing people to community bunkers. "The usual movement of people was seen as a relief," says a local resident Rafia Kausar. "Schools would remain closed for days, and even months," she said.

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE Border Security Force (BSF) on Tuesday night spotted a drone over Arnia sector of Jammu and Kashmir and opened fire, forcing it to retreat across the International Border (IB).

It was the sixth sighting of an unidentified drone in J&K after the first-ever drone attack on an Indian Air Force base in Jammu on June 27.

A BSF official said, a blinking red light was spotted by border guards about 9.52 pm on Tuesday. The drone was flying at a height of about 200 meters inside the Indian side of the border.

The BSF personnel quickly fired at the flying object, forcing it to retreat across the border, the official said.

The security officials said the drone must have been tasked with spying or dropping arms and ammunition for local terrorists.

Once the drone retreated, the BSF launched a search operation in the area but nothing suspicious was found on the ground.

Airports, military and government installations and along the IB and the Line of Control (LoC) have been on high-alert since the June 27 attack in which injured two.

Two drones had dropped two IEDs, which comprised RDX and nitrate, on the IAF base in the first attack. The attack damaged the rooftop of one of the buildings.

Wednesday's foiled drone activity was the sixth instance of a drone being spotted in Jammu region after the June 27 IAF base attack, which is about 14 kms from the border.

HC directs EC to preserve documents related to Nandigram Assembly polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

KOLKATA High Court on Wednesday directed the Election Commission to preserve EVMs, VVPATs and other documents related to the Assembly election held in West Bengal's Nandigram constituency.

The High Court issued the direction while hearing a petition filed by West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, challenging BJP leader Suvendu Adhikari's victory from the constituency.

"All documents, election papers, devices, video recordings connected with the election under challenge in the court shall be preserved by the Election Commission which is the custodian,'' said high court judge Shampa Sarkar. The High Court also said notices will be served to Adhikari, Returning Officer and the Election Commission.

The case was reassigned to the bench of Justice Sarkar by acting chief Justice Rajesh Bindal after Justice Kaushik Chanda recused himself from hearing the chief minister's petition. Mamata had objected to her petition being heard by Justice Chanda after the TMC spokesperson Derek O'Brien posted two photographs showing his presence in events hosted by the BJP. In her appeal, Mamata said the bench could be biased.

As per the result declared by the poll panel, Adhikari defeated Banerjee by 1,956 votes.

Adhikari moves SC

West Bengal Opposition leader Suvendu Adhikari on Wednesday moved the Supreme Court seeking transfer of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's petition challenging his election from Nandigram constituency outside West Bengal.

Panel indicts Khadse in Pune land deal

SUDHIR SURYAWAMSHI @Mumbai

A single-person judicial panel set up to probe allegations against former Maharashtra revenue minister Eknath Khadse on Wednesday said he misued his position in transfering a prime piece of land in Pune in favour of his wife Mandakini and son-in-law Girish Chaudhari in 2016.

Khadse rejected the allegations and pointed out that former Maharashtra CM Devendra Fadnavis himself had on record said the report by the commission has no relevance as the Bombay High Court had already directed the Anti-Corruption Bureau to file an FIR in the Pune land case and initiate a probe.

"Therefore, as per matter of fact and in legal terms, the content of Zoting commission report is null and void now. The case has gone further. Khadse has taken the meeting but he was not the minister of that particular department so his meeting has no legal authority. Besides, the order of the meeting was not finalised and it was later cancelled by the respective minister and chief minister Devendra Fadnavis himself. It shows that there was no conflict of interest in this entire case," said an NCP leader who is close to Khadse.

He added that the transactions in the Pune land deal were carried out as per prescribed norms. "The stamp duty was paid as per the government value of the land. So, there's no question of undervaluation and paying less stamp duty. Even the Enforcement Directorate case is also based on wrong information. To buy the land, a loan was taken and the EMI has been paid. This is nothing but to harass our leader by using central agencies," he added.

Earlier Khadse's son-in-law Girish Chaudhari has been arrested in connection with the case. Khadse was also recently grilled by ED for nine hours.

Court pulls up Delhi Police over riots case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Delhi Police was pulled up by a Sessions Court and slapped a fine of ₹25,000 for mishandling a case filed by a victim in the February 2019 riots.

Additional Sessions Judge Vinod Yadav observed that the police failed miserably in performing their statutory duties. Mohammad Nasir, who was shot in the eye during the riots, mentioned six people, including former BJP MLA Naresh Gaur in his complaint to the police. However, the police clubbed his complaint with an unrelated case, afterwhich Nasir approached the Metropolitan Magistrate.

Observing that the case diaries have not been maintained in accordance with the law, the court said when two separate complaints disclosing cognizable offences are filed by two different complainants, they should not have been clubbed.

Char Dham Yatra draws smaller crowd, hence pushed for it: Ukd

VINEET UPADHYAY @Dehradun

OFFICIALS in the Uttarakhand government have dismissed claims that there is a contradiction in the government's policy of cancelling Kanwar Yatra and approaching the Supreme Court to allow Char Dham Yatra, saying there is a large difference in the number of people who attend these events.

They have dismissed any comparison between Char Dham Yatra and Kanwar Yatra saying while only 4.2 lakh people attended the Char Dham Yatra over four months, about three-four crore people will gather for Kanwar Yatra in a week or two. "There is no contradiction at all. Char Dham Yatra is manageable with stringent control measures while Kanwar Yatra can go out of control with 3-4 Crore people travelling to Haridwar with 7-14 days. Our honorable CM has made a bold decision," said Ravinath Raman, chief executive officer of Char Dham Devsthanam Board who is also the commissioner for Garhwal division of Uttarakhand.

The CEO of the board which manages the Char Dham Yatra said that number of pilgrims who attend the yatra was controlled by implementing strict measures.

Taliban claims control of key border crossing with Pakistan

Afghan ministry denies report, says it's still in control of Spin Boldak crossing

KANDAHAR

THE Taliban on Wednesday said it had captured the strategic border crossing of Spin Boldak on the frontier with Pakistan, continuing sweeping gains made since foreign forces stepped up their withdrawal from Afghanistan.

The situation on the ground could not immediately be verified, with Afghanistan's interior ministry denying the report even as social media was abuzz with pictures of Taliban fighters looking relaxed in the frontier town. Spin Boldak is the latest in a string of border crossings and dry ports seized by the Taliban in recent weeks, with the insurgents looking to choke off revenue from the government in Kabul while also filling their own coffers.

As Kabul's grip over the country appeared to further loosen, former US president George W Bush slammed current White House incumbent Joe Biden's decision to withdraw all troops.

"I'm afraid Afghan women and girls are going to suffer unspeakable harm... They are going to be left behind to be slaughtered by these very brutal people and it breaks my heart," he told German broadcaster Deutsche Welle. Asked whether he thought the withdrawal was a mistake, Bush replied: "Yes, I think it is."

The Bush administration launched the US invasion into Afghanistan in 2001 that toppled the Taliban government following the September 11 attacks on US soil by Al-Qaeda militants.

Along with his key security advisors, Bush was later blamed for a series of miscalculations in Afghanistan that led to the revival of the Taliban movement. The seizure of the vital border crossing with Pakistan follows days of heavy fighting across Kandahar province, where the government was forced to deploy commando fighters to prevent the fall of the provincial capital even as the insurgents inched closer to taking the frontier. In a statement, insurgent spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid assured traders and residents there that their "security is guaranteed".

But Afghan officials insisted they were still in control.

"The terrorist Taliban had some movements near the border area... The security forces have repelled the attack," interior ministry spokesman Tareq Arian told AFP.

Residents disputed the government's claims.

"I went to my shop this morning and saw that the Taliban are everywhere. They are in the bazaar, in police HQ and custom areas. I can also hear the sound of fighting nearby," said Raz Mohammad, a shopkeeper who works near the border. The border crossing is one of the most strategically valuable for the Taliban.

It provides direct access to Pakistan's Balochistan province – where the insurgents' top leadership has been based for decades -- along with an unknown number of reserve fighters who regularly enter Afghanistan to help bolster their ranks.

Local residents and rescue workers gather at the site of bus accident in Kohistan district of Pakistan's Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province on Wednesday | AP/PTI

NINE Chinese engineers were among 13 people killed on Wednesday when a bus carrying construction workers in northwest Pakistan's mountainous region was "attacked", prompting Beijing to ask Islamabad to thoroughly investigate the incident and punish the perpetrators.

The incident took place in Dasu area of Upper Kohistan district of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province where Chinese engineers and construction workers are helping Pakistan build a dam which is part of the $60 billion China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), officials said. At least 13 people, including nine Chinese nationals and two Frontier Corps soldiers, died and 39 others injured when the bus carrying Chinese engineers and workers to the site of the under construction Dassu Dam exploded, Deputy Commissioner (Upper Kohistan) Muhammad Arif Yusafzai said.The bus fell into a deep Ravine after the explosion, the official said. The injured were admitted to nearby hospitals.

At the National Assembly, Adviser to the PM on Parliamentary Affairs Babar Awan called it a "cowardly attack" and said it would "not divert attention from the special initiatives between Pakistan and its neighbours." No group or individual has claimed the blast yet.

"China is shocked by and condemns the bomb attack in Pakistan's Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province which caused Chinese casualties, mourns for the Chinese and Pakistani personnel killed in the attack, and expresses sympathy to their families and the injured," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian said in Beijing.

Toll in Chinese hotel collapse rises to 17

SHANGHAI

NINE more people have been confirmed dead in the collapse of a budget hotel in eastern China, bringing the final toll to 17, as state media on Wednesday announced the end of search and recovery efforts.

Six others were earlier rescued from the rubble of the Siji Kaiyuan hotel, which crumbled in a heap of shattered concrete and bent metal beams two days earlier in the picturesque city of Suzhou. All of those rescued were in stable condition. An unspecified number of people linked to the hotel have been detained and an investigation into the cause of the disaster is under way.

The hotel opened in 2018 and had 54 guest rooms, according to its listing on the travel site Ctrip.

Suzhou, a city of more than 12 million people roughly 100 kilometres (60 miles) west of Shanghai, is a popular destination for tourists drawn to its canals and centuries-old gardens.

Such accidents common

Building collapses or accidents are not uncommon in China and are often blamed on lax construction standards or corruption. The collapse of a quarantine hotel in southern China's Quanzhou city last March killed 29 people, with authorities later finding that three floors had been added illegally to the building's original four-storey structure. Authorities in May evacuated one of China's tallest skyscrapers, the SEG Plaza in Shenzhen after it shook multiple times over several days.

Infosys beefs up tech to fix tax portal glitches

Says it augmented tech team, bandwidths; posts net profit up 2.3% at ₹5,195 cr q-o-q

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

IT services major Infosys CEO Salil Parekh said that the company has augmented its technology team, project management, and increased bandwidths to fix the technical glitches on the income tax portal which had irked the Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman after the income tax payers flagged the issue on social media networks.

In rupee terms revenue grew by 6.0% q-o-q to ₹27,896 crore while gross profits grew by 2.7% q-o-q to ₹9,390 crore. Net profit for the quarter grew by 2.3% to ₹5,195 crore. Infosys also maintained its deal momentum as the company reported deal wins of $ 2.6bn as compared to $ 2.1bn in Q4FY21.

Infosys non-executive chairman Nandan Nilekani had assured the finance minister that the company is working to address the user concerns. Bengaluru-headquartered firm has been caught at the wrong foot for poor handling of government projects in the past, which had invited criticism from union ministers as well as top officials.

Infosys Chief Operating Officer Pravin Rao said during the quarterly results media briefing that the IT portal witnesses huge traffic on a daily basis with 8-10 lakh users. "About 10 lakh IT returns have been filed through the portal so far, and on Tuesday, one lakh filings were made. In addition, lakhs of users have been able to link their Aadhar and other know-your-customer details (KYC) with their ITR and other filings," Rao said. He added that the company has made some progress and will further roll out more functionalities and increase the bandwidth for seamless user experience. This comes on the heels of a recent meeting between the finance ministry officials and Infosys executives over the IT portal concerns.

Meanwhile the company is planning to hire 25,000 fresh college graduates over the next few quarters and has made a net addition of 8,000 employees during the June quarter. However, rising attrition rate continued to pose a challenge especially on the supply crunch front for big projects. The attrition rate (LTM) stood at 13.9%, higher than the last quarter. Rao said that the company is focused on investments in employee engagement, retention programmes and has so far announced two cycles of wage hikes.

In the long term, the management's focus on expanding and creating new profit/revenue pools is likely to de-risk the business – the share of domestic Trucks in revenue is likely to shrink to ~55% by FY23E (v/s 68% in FY19). We estimate AL's revenue/EBITDA/PAT to grow at 22%/55%/83% CAGR over FY20-23E on a low base of FY20.

Nod to subsidy scheme to boost garment exports

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN a major relief for exporters of garments, the Union Cabinet has approved the continuation of Rebate of State and Central taxes and Levies (RoSCTL) scheme till March 31, 2024 with the same rates as notified earlier by the Ministry of Textiles.

"The other textiles products (excluding Chapters-61, 62 & 63) which are not covered under the RoSCTL shall be eligible to avail the benefits, if any, under RoDTEP along with other products as finalised by the department of commerce from the dates which shall be notified in this regard," an official release said.

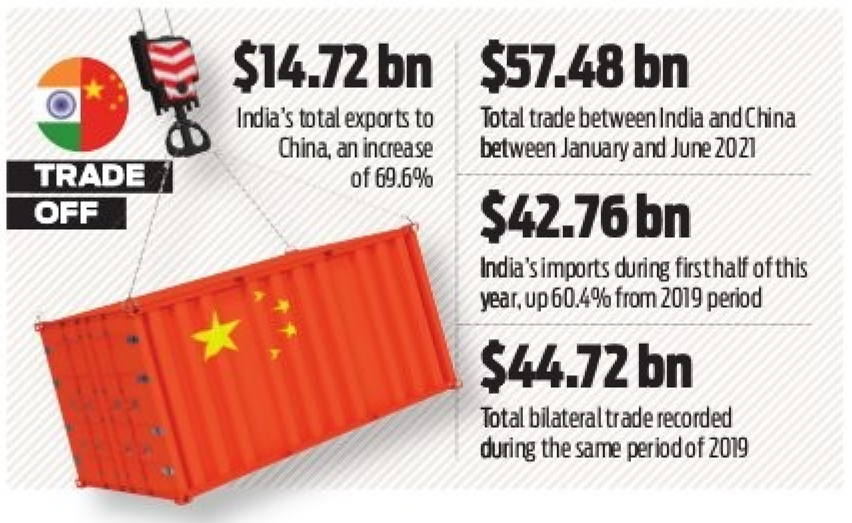
The cabinet also approved a subsidy scheme for shipping companies during global tenders for import of government cargo, with an outlay of ₹1,624 crore over five years, which will help in adding number of fleets to boost exports.

Exporters welcomed the decision and said the move will boost investment, improve the competitiveness of domestic firms in the textiles sector.

"The extension of the scheme for almost three years provides stability and predictability, which augurs very well for the long-term contracts thereby ensuring additional investment in the segment creating new employment opportunities in the sector," said A Sakthivel, President, FIEO.

Post-Galwan, India's trade with China soared 62%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi



$14.72 bn India's total exports to China, an increase of 69.6%

$57.48 bn Total trade between India and China between January and June 2021

$42.76 bn India's imports during first half of this year, up 60.4% from 2019 period

$44.72 bn Total bilateral trade recorded during the same period of 2019

DESPITE a series of measures taken by the government to reduce India's imports on China, especially after Galwan valley conflict, India's bilateral trade with China zoomed by 62.7% in the first half of this year, recording a new high, on account of imports of medical supplies during the second Covid wave.

According to data released by China's General Administration of Customs (CGAC), the total trade between the two countries stood at $57.48 billion between January and June period.

After the Chinese aggression in Galwan Valley, India took many measures to curtail imports and banned many Chinese apps. However in about a year, the bilateral trade has surpassed even the pre-pandemic levels of 2019, when both countries recorded bilateral trade at $44.72 billion in the first half of the year.

The data released by the Chinese agencies, India's imports, driven mainly on account of purchases of medical supplies, reached $42.76 billion this year, up 60.4% compared to $35.8 billion recorded in the same period in 2019.

Data suggested that India imported more than 26,000 ventilators and oxygen generators in April alone.

On the positive note, even India's exports to China climbed 69.6% to $14.72 billion, mainly on account of iron ore, cotton, and other commodities.

Data by CGAC revealed that between January and April this year, India exported a total of 20.28 million tonnes of iron ore to China, an increase of nearly 66% from the same period of last year. This accounted for nearly 90% of India's total iron ore export.

The growing geopolitical tensions between both countries, India's trade with China had declined 5.6% to a three-year low at $87.6 billion in 2020. Despite that China still managed to remain India's biggest trading partner, surpassing the United States.

By the end of June this year, China replaced the UAE as the second largest export destination for India, with outbound shipments to the neighbouring country rising 27.53%.

RBI BARS MASTERCARD FROM ADDING CUSTOMERS IN INDIA FROM JULY 22

Will work to resolve concerns: Mastercard

Mastercard said: "While we are disappointed with the stance taken by the RBI, we will continue to work with them to provide any additional details required to resolve their concerns... We remain committed to working with our customers and partners in advancing on the government's digital India vision."

SESA SEN @ New Delhi

IN yet another crackdown against global credit card and payments companies for flouting data localisation norms, the Reserve of India (RBI) on Wednesday barred Mastercard from adding new domestic credit card customers from July 22, 2021.

According to the regulator, the restriction was imposed as the company failed to comply with its directions on storage of payment system data. The order, however, will not impact existing customers.

"Notwithstanding the lapse of considerable time and adequate opportunities being given, the entity has been found to be non-compliant with the directions on storage of payment system data. Mastercard shall advise all card issuing banks and non-banks to conform to these directions," the RBI said in a statement.

Mastercard is one of the top three card issuers in India, along with Visa and Rupay.

While Visa and Mastercard target a specific customer segment who use the cards frequently and for high-value transactions, RuPay debit cards may not have that much customer base. Besides, Mastercard also dominates the debit card space over credit cards. The latest RBI decision to limit fresh card issuance from Mastercard will mean the market will essentially function as a duopoly between Visa and homegrown card network Rupay.

As for banks, there could be some delay in banks' issuing fresh cards as they make the transition to a new platform. The move also comes at a time when the government has also been pushing banks to focus more on RuPay cards.

This is the third company to face the regulator's wrath for not being compliant with data storage norms, announced in April 2018, that require storing transaction data only within India. In April, the RBI had also barred American Express and Diners Club from adding new customers.

Mastercard said it is disappointed with the RBI's move. "We will continue to work with them to provide any additional details required to resolve their concerns. Building on our considerable and continued investments in India, we remain committed to working with our customers and partners in advancing on the Government's Digital India vision," it added.

WPI inflation eases in June but stays high

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

SOFTENING goods prices has helped in easing of Wholsale Price Index in June to 12.07%, however, inflation still remains in double digits, posing trouble for the economy, and experts say that inflation will take some time to cool off.

WPI inflation was recorded at 12.94% in May.

The easing of inflation was mainly due to fall in prices of food items which slipped to 6.66% from 8.11%.

On the flip side, inflation for manufactured products rose to 10.88% from 10.83%, now 14 months in a row, and fuel inflation also remained firm. From basic metals to computers, textiles, pharmaceutical products, and machinery, prices have increased due to surge in global commodity price and high fuel cost at home.

Analysts believe that the pressure is unlikely to ease soon. The headline number is expected to remain in double digits throughout FY22.

"We expect the YoY core inflation to record a further modest uptick in July 2021, before commencing a gradual downtrend from August 2021 onwards," said Aditi Nayar, chief economist at the rating agency in an emailed response.

Consumer Price Index (CPI) stood at 6.26% in June and while the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) tracks the retail inflation for policy purposes, the elevated WPI inflation should give it further discomfort, when it is going to meet next month.

Experts feel that this will force RBI to revise their inflation forcast in the Monetary Policy meet.

Majority unitholders' consent must to shut MF schemes: SC

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday has ruled that consent of unitholders is mandatory when winding-up schemes of a mutual fund.

The top court has agreed with the views of the High Court. However, it said that the requirement for consent of majority of shareholders will be post the publication of notices.

The court further stated that it has upheld the validity of the regulations, and while doing so, they have held that in case trustees wrongfully seek winding up, SEBI will have the power to intervene in the same.

"We hold that the consent of the unitholders, as envisaged under clause (c) to Regulation 18(15), is not required before publication of the notices under Regulation 39(3). Consent of the unitholders should be sought post publication of the notice and disclosure of the reasons for winding up under Regulation 39(3)," said the order by Justices Abdul S Nazeer and Sanjeev Khanna.

The court had also approved the application filed by SBI Mutual Fund and SBI Funds Management Pvt Ltd for placing on record the distribution mechanism proposed to be followed while distributing Franklin Templeton's ₹9,122 crore amongst its unit holders, under the six mutual fund schemes.

The application has followed the top court's last order whereby it had directed SBI Mutual Funds to undertake the distribution, dividing the amount amongst unit holders, in proportion to their respective interest in assets of scheme, as agreed by both Franklin Templeton Trust and SEBI.

THE ₹9,375-crore initial public offering (IPO) of foodtech company Zomato kicked off in style and got subscribed 1.05 times on July 14, its first day of bidding. It has received bids for 75.60 crore equity shares, worth about ₹5,700 crore, against total IPO size of 71.92 crore equity shares.

"Zomato IPO was subscribed 2 times on the first day of the bidding, which is good if we can see the issue size. It is expected to grow more in coming days looking like issues size, many retail investors getting the same as per my view it meets expections," said Gaurav Garg, Head of Research at CapitalVia Global Research. The food delivery major said it is glad to see people care less about how far they have come and more about how far they can go.

According to data available on the exchanges, retail investors subscribed 2.69 times, while non-institutional investors have placed bids for 13% of their reserved portion. Employees portion is subscribed 18%, while qualified institutional buyers have applied for 98% of their reserved portion on Day 1.

To note, Zomato had already raised ₹4,196.51 crore from 186 domestic and global anchor investors on July 13, a day before the issue opening. NCLT to hear plea on RCom spectrum today

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

BANKRUPT Reliance Communications' (RCom) spectrum assets are set to become a matter before the bankruptcy courts yet again on Thursday. The National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) is likely to hold a hearing on a petition filed by the company's resolution professional citing fears that that Department of Telecommunications (DoT) is unlikely to renew RCom's spectrum licences — leaving almost nothing worth selling in the company.

Last week, according to industry sources, the bankrupt teleco had approached the NCLT stating that if DoT did not renew its spectrum licences, when they expired on July 27, RCom's resolution process would be threatened.

RCom currently has spectrum in the 850 MHz band in 14 out of 22 circles in the country and holds a pan-India licence.

Under the resolution plan that has been cleared by RCom's Committee of Creditors (CoC), UV Asset Reconstruction Company Ltd (UVARCL) will buy the spectrum licences for over ₹12,000 crore, to be paid in phases over 12 years.

Sources say that RCom's petition to renew its licences for another 20 years has met resistance from the DoT, because the company still has to pay its Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) dues as per the SC verdict in 2019 — around ₹26,000 crore. This prompted the company's RP Deloitte to approach the NCLT last week.

Resolution of IL&FS group companies' debt to stretch beyond March FY22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

NEARLY three years after taking control of Infrastructure Leasing and Financial Services (IL&FS), the Uday Kotak-led board of directors on Wednesday said that the overall resolution of the group companies is now likely to stretch beyond the current fiscal.

As part of its quarterly update on the progress of the ongoing resolution process, the beleaguered infrastructure firm said that the resolution of around 95 entities, with an estimated debt recovery of ₹3,000 crore, will take place well beyond March 2022. Of the total liabilities of ₹99,355 crore, the board has so far addressed ₹29,030 crore through resolution and cash recovery. Another ₹14,643 crore is expected from applications filed with courts, taking its total recovery to ₹43, 673 crore or 44% of the total group debt.

"Higher number of residual entities with low recovery potential would still remain beyond March 2022," it said, adding limited buyer universe, the long-drawn process for closure and time and costs to keep the IL&FS Group as a going concern for completing the resolution. Of the total 347 entities under IL&FS Group (as of October 2018), a total of 211 entities have been resolved as of May 31, 2021, the presentation showed.

PLAN OF ACTION

₹99,355 cr Total liabilities of the firm

₹7,700 cr It expects to recover in Q2FY22

₹14,643 cr Expected to be resolved through courts

₹58,000 cr The group plans to resolve by end of this fiscal

₹29,030 cr The board so far addressed through resolution and cash recovery

While the bulk of the resolution was expected to be completed by March 2021, the process had faced legal and regulatory delays with the covid-19 pandemic further slowing down the resolution.

In April this year, the group had revised its estimates for aggregate debt recovery upward to ₹61,000 crore from ₹56,000 crore on better valuations and enhanced recoveries from non-group exposures.

Sindhu to start Olympic campaign against Ksenia

Shuttler PV Sindhu will open her campaign in the Tokyo Olympics against Polikarpova Ksenia of Israel on July 25. Sindhu has been clubbed in an easy Group J, also comprising Hong Kong's Cheung Ngan Yi. In men's singles, B Sai Praneeth will face Misha Zilberman of Israel in his opening Group D match on the first day of competitions on July 24.

Athletes from the hinterland bring with them years of hardship, unbelievable suffering before finding sport as a vehicle for a better tomorrow. Vivek Krishnan finds out more

FINDING SOLACE IN SPORT

IT'S been just over a week now since Tamil Nadu quarter-miler Revathi Veeramani found out that she will be heading to the Tokyo Olympics as part of the mixed 4x400m relay team, but the 23-year-old can still scarcely believe it. For a girl who lost both her parents to illness at the age of 7 and had to spend all her adolescent life away in a hostel because her grandmother couldn't take care of her, the fact that she is now an Olympic-bound athlete seems too good to be true. Nothing has been plain sailing, after all, in Revathi's tumultuous journey.

Belonging to a village Sakkimangalam in Madurai district, her initiation to athletics came by chance at the age of 15 when her running talent was spotted by a teacher in a government school before it was further honed by Madurai-based coach K Kannan. She did not even have shoes and used to run barefoot.

For some of the athletes heading to Tokyo everyday life is a struggle, and it is sport that manages to help them claw their way out of trouble and build a better life. Revathi is an example. Having got a job as a ticket examiner with Southern Railway in Madurai last year due to her exploits on the track and is now earning a monthly income of ₹25000.

"I don't think I would have been getting that much money even if I had studied properly and got a job. Athletics has definitely changed my life and made things better. I am getting the right support now due to sports only. There are sponsors who have got in touch and are willing to help me with things like shoes and kit," Revathi tells this daily.

The Olympics, of course, is the grandest stage for an athlete and quite a few harbour a strong desire to make the cut right from their childhood. But there are also those who are practical about the circumstances they have been subjected to and are simply looking for a government job through the sports quota to ease their difficulties.

S Dhanalakshmi, who has emerged as one of the top sprinters in the country in recent months, will also be part of the mixed relay team in Tokyo. While her focus now is on doing well at the Games, landing a job soon is as much of a priority for the girl from Trichy. She lost her father early and has had to see her ageing mother continue working on the farms.

"She applied at Income Tax and Railways last year, but she did not get the appointment due to the Covid situation last year. She has recently again applied in Railways," Dhanalakshmi's coach says.

Despite unimaginable hardships, the fact that they manage to compete at the highest level is a testimony to their resilience and hard work.

Nineteen-year-old Saurabh Chaudhury, for instance, grew up in an environment that wasn't friendly to honing his skills in shooting. When he began training six years ago, his father, who works in agricultural fields of Kalina village near Meerut in UP, did not have enough to buy his son a pistol. The youngster had to make do with using other people's equipment before the family eventually took the burden of a loan to fulfil Saurabh's need."Obviously, the financial condition was not very good. When he first started, we did not have enough money to buy him a pistol. After a year of training, his coach insisted that he will need to buy his own pistol as everybody's grip is different. We had to take a loan to buy him a pistol. Those were very difficult days," recalls Nitin, Saurabh's elder brother.

KNOW YOUR SPORT | JAVELIN

INDIA ATHLETES: MEN: Neeraj Chopra, Shivpal. WOMEN: Annu Rani

DATES
AUGUST: 04-07, National Stadium

PATHS TO VICTORY

1 BREACH 83M MARK IN QUALIFYING
There is understandable hype around Neeraj. Shivpal, too, cannot be discounted because he has shown that he can find a big throw. The first test is to breach the 83m mark (a mark both of them have breached in the past) in the qualifying. Why 83m? Every men's javelin thrower who has thrown that mark in qualifying this century has advanced to the final.

2 BE IN THAT TOP EIGHT AFTER THREE ROUNDS
In the final, the bottom four will be eliminated after the first three rounds. So rather than go for the massive throws, the challenge should be to be in top eight after three throws. The advantage they get is three extra throws to get into the top three. It's also something that worked for 2016 champ Thomas Rohler, whose sixth throw earned him gold.

BADMINTON

INDIA ATHLETES
MEN: Singles: B Sai Praneeth
Doubles: Satwiksairaj Rankireddy, Chirag Shetty
WOMEN : Singles: PV Sindhu

DATES
JULY
24 to August 2, usashino Forest Sport Plaza

PATHS TO VICTORY

1 SINDHU VS YAMAGUCHI
Sindhu has got one of the more manageable opponents. Mind you Yamaguchi is extremely skillful but the 2016 silver medallist should fancy her chances. She has a 11-7 H2H record and all that experience of beating should stand her in good stead. If she does beat her, her next opponent could be Tai Tzu-ying but one step at a time.

2 ONE MATCH AT A TIME
Praneeth, who could face Kento Momota in the last eight, shouldn't think too much about that match. The initial focus should really be getting out of his group. The same goes for the doubles pair. They have gone on deep runs in big meets before. Even if they are in a tight group, their contrasting styles can surprise opponents.

Wrestlers in Russia yet to get 2nd dose

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

INDIAN wrestlers training in Russia ahead of the Olympics got their accreditation cards about a week ago but a few of them apart from the coaching staff are yet to receive the second dose of Covid vaccination. Earlier this month, the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports has sought the assistance of the Ministry of External Affairs to complete the Covid-19 vaccination of seven athletes and 17 support staff now based overseas. Wrestlers Bajrang Punia, Ravi Dahiya and Deepak Punia are training at Vladikavkaz in Russia along with their coaches and sparring partners. While the WFI managed to send their accreditation through sparring partners inoculating them with 'Covishield' seems to be an issue due to non-availability.

Husband to deliver Vinesh's accred card

Vinesh Phogat , who is training in Hungary, is expected to receive her accreditation card soon. The WFI official said her husband Somvir Rathee will leave for Hungary to deliver the card in a day or two.

Teething issues for sailors at airport

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

IT'S not always easy to be the first team from the country to reach any sports venue in a multi-discipline competition. If it is the Tokyo Olympics during a pandemic, with its own strict rules and restrictions, it makes it all the more difficult.

The Indian sailing team that reached the venue on Tuesday had to wait around eight hours at the Haneda airport after landing. The contingent, including sailors KC Ganapathy, Varun Thakkar, Nethra Kumanan and Vishnu Saravanan, and two foreign coaches reached Tokyo from different places in Europe. Due to strict protocols in place, at least one testing had to be done at the airport before departing to their hotel. Then there are a couple apps that need to be updated. So it is taking more than usual time for athletes to leave the airport. But for the sailors it took more time.

It is understood there were a couple issues due to which the team had to spend more time at the airport. The set of sailors — Nethra and Vishnu in the Laser class — and coach, Alexandr Denisiuc, who were training in Malta, did not get their accreditation card that also acts as a visa to enter Japan. The 49er pair of Ganapathy and Varun, however, received their accreditations. The Indian Olympic Association (IOA) had to request a letter from the Tokyo organisers to allow Nethra, Vishnu and their coach to enter Japan. According to YAI, formalities took longer without the accreditation. The entire team wanted to exit together, so the others waited.

Another issue was accommodation. The sailors are not put up at the Games Village but at their venue – Enoshima – a place some 60km south of Tokyo. Initially there was no confirmation of their accommodation but it was sorted out by the IOA. The YAI felt there were no major issue and was thankful to the IOA and organising committee for facilitating the letter that allowed them to travel to Tokyo from Frankfurt. According to an official, since they were the first to arrive, there were teething issues but nothing that could not be managed.

Dhawan is aware of competition for openers: Kaif

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

EVER since Indian cricketers resumed playing after the Covid-19 induced lockdown last year, Shikhar Dhawan has been consistent. He accumulated 998 runs in the last two editions (2021 yet to be completed), and his form in national colours looks decent with four half-centuries in ten limited overs matches. Despite such a record, there is no guarantee that the southpaw will find a place in the Indian playing XI in the T20 World Cup due to the sheer competition that exists in the team.

The team comprises openers such as Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul, and more importantly, India captain Virat Kohli is also open to play that role if required. That makes matters extremely difficult for Dhawan, but the Delhi man can prove to be a selection headache if he scores big in the upcoming limited overs series against Sri Lanka in Colombo and the remainder of the IPL season before the T20 World Cup. Former India batsman Mohammad Kaif feels the series is going to be extremely important for Shikhar with regards to the ICC event.

"I am quite sure Shikhar is aware of the situation (competition for the openers' slot). I have seen him closely in recent times and he has been in fantastic form. Even his strike rate is good, if there were any questions raised about it. He has scored very well in the IPL, which is a good competition. So this Sri Lanka series and then the IPL will be very important for him.... You also want to have players who are in good form and Shikhar is one of them," Kaif said in a virtual interaction.

Mix-and-match of vaccines

Is mixing and matching of Covid vaccines an idea whose time has come? At least two countries have already decided to do so after preliminary studies suggested mixing it up providing better or at least similar protection to volunteers. But an alarmed World health Organisation (WHO) has issued an advisory against mixing, saying their long term effects are still unknown. A look

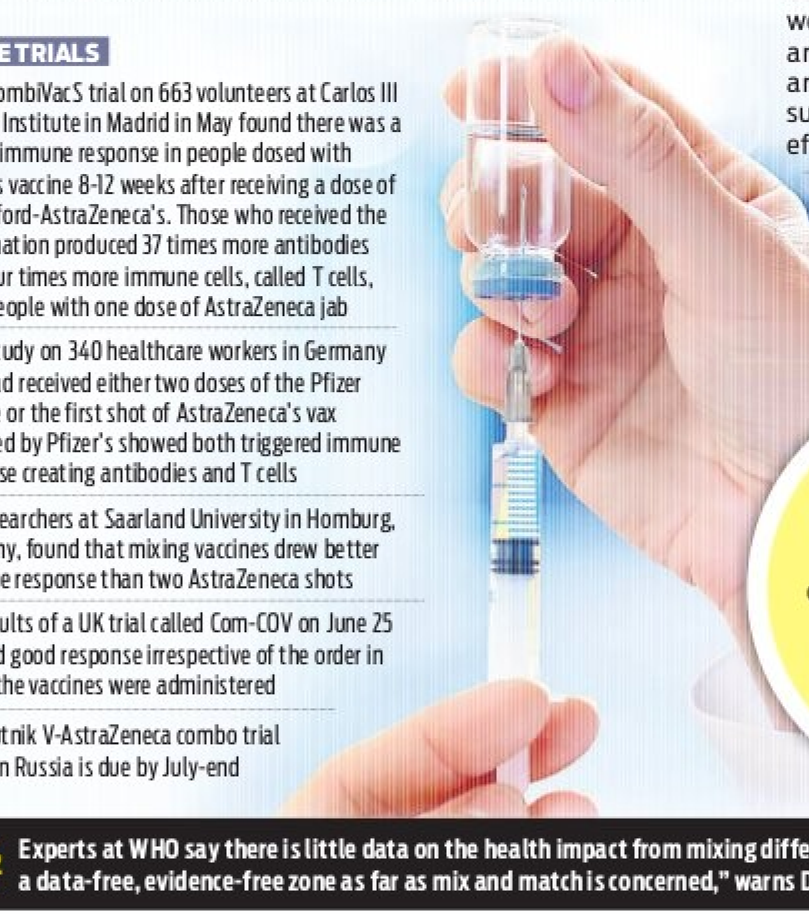
HOW IT BEGAN

It all began after rare cases of people taking the Oxford-AstraZeneca jab experienced a blood-clotting condition known as thrombosis with thrombocytopaenia

In March, a few EU member states put the use of the vaccine on hold. It left many people with just one dose, unless they changed their brand for their second dose. That germinated the thought to mix and match vaccines

DIFFERENT FINDINGS

In the Com-COV study, mixing vaccines elicited more side-effects than administering two doses of the same vaccine, according to data released on May 5. But this wasn't the case in the Charité and Saarland studies or CombiVacS, where side-effects were no worse than for two shots of the same vaccine



FIVE TRIALS

① A CombiVacS trial on 663 volunteers at Carlos III Health Institute in Madrid in May found there was a strong immune response in people dosed with Pfizer's vaccine 8-12 weeks after receiving a dose of the Oxford-AstraZeneca's. Those who received the combination produced 37 times more antibodies and four times more immune cells, called T cells, than people with one dose of AstraZeneca jab

② A study on 340 healthcare workers in Germany who had received either two doses of the Pfizer vaccine or the first shot of AstraZeneca's vax followed by Pfizer's showed both triggered immune response creating antibodies and T cells

③ Researchers at Saarland University in Homburg, Germany, found that mixing vaccines drew better immune response than two AstraZeneca shots

④ Results of a UK trial called Com-COV on June 25 showed good response irrespective of the order in which the vaccines were administered

⑤ Sputnik V-AstraZeneca combo trial result in Russia is due by July-end

INTERESTING TAKEAWAYS

- AstraZeneca vaccine that uses a harmless virus is good at inducing strong T-cell response. T cells, especially killer T cells, carry a protein called CD8, which protect against severe disease by killing already infected cells
- Pfizer's, on the other hand, uses messenger RNA, and works well in inducing high levels of antibodies. "Neutralising antibodies are probably a good surrogate for predicting efficacy," says Sander
- So, mixing an mRNA vaccine and an adenovirus-based one could create the best cocktail

ANOTHER FACTOR

Since vaccine supply is short in various countries, the urge to mix and match for those waiting for months for their second shot is obvious

THE WORRY

Trials samples have been too small. "As long as you don't have any long-term or any follow-up studies with efficacy calculations, it's hard to say the level or duration of protection," warns Martina Sester, immunologist who led the Saarland study. No major side-effects have been reported so far

THAILAND PLAN

The country is struggling with an infection spurt. As many as 618 among 6,77,000 medical staff who were fully vaccinated with Chinese Sinovac vaccine, got infected again. It now plans to give medical staff with only one shot of the Sinovac and AstraZeneca vax as the second shot

CANADA TAKES LEAD

It last month told people who took AstraZeneca vaccine for their first shot that they should go for either Pfizer or Moderna vaccine for their second

HEY, WAIT Experts at WHO say there is little data on the health impact from mixing different jabs. "It's a little bit of a dangerous trend here. We are in a data-free, evidence-free zone as far as mix and match is concerned," warns Dr Soumya Swaminathan, WHO's chief scientist

Indonesia turns epicenter of virus explosion in Asia

Health infra strained in the archipelago; US daily case count doubles over three weeks

COVID

JAKARTA: Virus-wracked Indonesia posted record daily infections topping 54,000 on Wednesday as the highly infectious Delta variant rips across the archipelago, catapulting it ahead of India as Asia's Covid-19 epicentre. The Southeast Asian nation has been battered by a virus explosion that overwhelmed hospitals, leaving scores to die at home, while desperate relatives hunt for oxygen tanks to treat the sick.

On Wednesday, Indonesia's health ministry posted its highest-ever 54,517 new cases and 991 deaths in 24 hours — recent daily mortality rates are as high as 10 times the numbers in early June. But the official data is widely believed to be a severe undercount due to low testing rates and poor contact tracing.

"Indonesia could become the epicentre of the pandemic, but it's already the epicentre of Asia," said Dicky Budiman, an Indonesian epidemiologist at Australia's Griffith University.

"If you look at the population difference between India and Indonesia... then the pandemic is far more serious than in India."

Indonesia's real number of daily cases could be topping 100,000 a day and threatened to double by the end of the month with as many as 2,000 daily virus deaths, Budiman warned.

Uptick in the US

The Covid-19 curve in the U.S. is rising again after months of decline, with the number of new cases per day doubling over the past three weeks, driven by the fast-spreading delta variant, lagging vaccination rates and Fourth of July gatherings.

Confirmed infections climbed to an average of about 23,600 a day on Monday, up from 11,300 on June 23, according to Johns Hopkins University data. And all but two states — Maine and South Dakota — reported that case numbers have gone up over the past two weeks.

"It is certainly no coincidence that we are looking at exactly the time that we would expect cases to be occurring after the July Fourth weekend," said Dr. Bill Powderly, co-director of the infectious-disease division at Washington University's School of Medicine in St. Louis.

Defending mix-and-match

Thailand on Tuesday defended mixing two different Covid-19 vaccines to battle a surge in infections. The kingdom is struggling to contain its latest outbreak fuelled by the highly contagious Delta variant, with cases and deaths skyrocketing and the healthcare system stretched thin.

Authorities said they will mix a first dose of the Chinese-made Sinovac jab with a second dose of AstraZeneca to try and achieve a "booster" effect in six weeks instead of 12.

Thailand's chief virologist Yong Poovorawan said, "We can't wait 12 weeks (for a booster effect) in this outbreak where the disease is spreading fast."

EU draft proposal to ban petrol-driven cars by 2035 fuels debate

CLIMATE

BRUSSELS: The EU went into battle on Wednesday to secure a path to its pledge of carbon neutrality by 2050, triggering an epic political clash over electric cars and fuel prices that could last for years. The mammoth plan was unveiled by the European Commission and is intended to transform the bloc's economy from fossil fuel dependency to a world of net-zero emissions.

Brussels also hopes to establish Europe as the unquestioned leader on meeting the goals of the Paris climate accord. "Europe is now the very first continent that presents a comprehensive architecture to meet our climate ambitions," EU Commission chief Ursula von der Leyen told reporters.

"We have the goal, but now we present the roadmap to how we are going to get there," she added. The myriad proposals include an effective ban on the sale of new petrol-driven cars from 2035, one of the boldest moves against gas-guzzlers to date that the car lobby was quick to slam as "not rational". The dozen draft laws were announced by the European Commission's environment supremo Vice President Frans Timmermans, who said the political challenge was immense.

"Nothing we have presented today is going to be easy. It's going to be bloody hard. I know that," he said.

The laws will now snake their way through the EU's legislative system amid high-stakes horse-trading in the European Parliament and among the bloc's 27 member states, egged on by industry lobbyists and green activists.

"Each state will have to defend its interests because their situations are very different in terms of industry, geography, energy supply and investment capacity," said a senior EU diplomat.

The main European car-makers association warned Brussels on Wednesday that it was making a wrong turn by seeking to force petrol and diesel cars off the road by 2035.

The European Automobile Manufacturer's Association (ACEA) said it supported efforts to make the EU carbon neutral by 2050, as envisaged by draft climate laws, but "banning a single technology is not a rational way forward at this stage".

FACT OF THE MATTER

Hoard of old coins found

HISTORY

Archaeologists clearing land for the high-speed HS2 train line have uncovered a rare set of Iron Age 'potins' – a small early version of the coin – that are around 2,100 years old. The discovery has been dubbed the 'Hillingdon Hoard' because of where the 300 or so potins were found in West London in August last year. They date back to the late Iron Age, during a period of change as the Romans began to establish Londinium in 47 AD. The potins are based on coins struck in France about 2,175 years ago, which bear the left-facing head of Apollo on one side and a bull charging right on the other. Value of the hoard has not yet been determined but coroner will decide if the discovery amounts to 'treasure'.

Pepper can't hold a job

TECH

It was launched to much fanfare seven years ago, but it appears Pepper, the friendly humanoid robot, may soon be on the scrapheap. The $1,790 machine, which is battling to stave off retirement after its maker said last month that production had been 'paused for a while', keeps getting fired from jobs. It has been sacked from roles at a nursing home, funeral business and bank because people 'expect the intelligence of a human', one expert said of Pepper, which is one of the first humanoid robots able to 'read' emotions. Only 27,000 units were ever made, and Japanese conglomerate SoftBank has said it will only start making the 4ft, 62lb robot again 'when it is needed'.

European Central Bank clears deck for digital Euro

TECH

FRANKFURT: The European Central Bank on Wednesday launched a pilot project to create a "digital euro", in response to the growing popularity of electronic payments and the rise of cryptocurrencies. "Our work aims to ensure that in the digital age citizens and firms continue to have access to the safest form of money, central bank money," ECB president Christine Lagarde said in a statement. The initial "investigation phase" is to last two years and will focus on the digital euro's design and distribution options, before a final decision is taken on whether to proceed.

The move comes as policymakers around the world explore so-called central bank digital currencies (CBDCs) as a stable and risk-free alternative to crypto assets like bitcoin and Facebook's planned diem currency. Central banks are also responding to increased demand for digital payment options as cash use continues to decline, a trend fuelled by the pandemic and the desire to avoid contact.

The Chinese central bank is already trialling a digital renminbi, while the Bank of England has launched a taskforce to look into a possible "britcoin". The US Federal Reserve and the Bank of Japan are also researching digital currencies. The ECB had signalled it could take around five years overall to bring the e-euro to life, meaning a rollout isn't expected before 2026. The Frankfurt institution stressed any future digital euro "would complement cash, not replace it". A digital euro would be an electronic version of euro coins and banknotes held in a digital wallet, potentially allowing eurozone citizens for the first time to have accounts directly with the ECB. A key challenge will be to balance privacy demands with anti-money laundering regulations, with experts saying it's unlikely a digital euro can offer the same kind of anonymity as cash.

Amazon forests regurgitating CO_2

CONSERVATION

PARIS: Climate change and deforestation have flipped a large swathe of the Amazon basin from absorbing to emitting planet-warming CO2, researchers reported on Wednesday.

Hundreds of high-altitude air samples collected over the last decade showed that southeastern Amazon, in particular, has shifted from a "sink" to a source of carbon dioxide, the main greenhouse gas, they reported in the journal Nature.

Terrestrial ecosystems worldwide are crucial as the world struggles to curb CO2 emissions, which topped 40 billion tonnes in 2019.

Over the last half century, plants and soil have consistently absorbed more than a quarter of those emissions, even as CO2 pollution increased by 50 percent.

The Amazon basin contains about half of the world's tropical rainforests, which are more effective at soaking up and storing carbon than other vegetation. If Amazonia — with 450 billion tonnes of CO2 locked in its trees and soil — were to become a consistent source rather than a "sink" of CO2, tackling the climate crisis would be vastly more challenging.

Indian recalls Italian horror after six years of slavery on farm

Migrants working at a field in south of Rome. Some 30,000 Indians, mainly from Punjab, work in pitiable conditions there | AFP

EXPLORE

ITALY: When Balbir Singh refers to his ordeal, he uses the Italian word "macello", which roughly translates as "mess" — but it is hardly enough to convey what the migrant Indian farm worker has endured.

For six years, he lived in what can only be described as slave-like conditions tending cattle in the province of Latina, a rural area south of Rome that is home to tens of thousands of Indian migrant workers like him.

"I was working 12-13 hours a day, including Sundays, with no holidays, no rest," Singh told AFP. The farm owner paid him 100 to 150 euros ($120 to $175) a month, he said, which amounts to less than 50 cents an hour.

The legal minimum for farm workers is around 10 euros an hour. Singh was rescued by a police raid on March 17, 2017 after appealing for help via Facebook and WhatsApp to local Indian community leaders and an Italian rights activist. Officers found him living in a caravan, with no gas, hot water or electricity, and eating the leftovers that his boss either threw in the bin or gave to chickens and pigs. Singh had to wash in the stables, with the same hosepipe he used to clean cattle, and it was made clear to him he should not complain.

"When I found a lawyer ready to help me, (the owner) told me... 'I'll kill you, I'll dig a hole, throw you in it, and fill it up'... he had a gun, I saw it," he recalled.

Singh said he was beaten up a couple of times, and had his identity papers taken away.

His former employer is now on trial for labour exploitation, while Singh is living in a secret location for fear of retribution.

Singh's story is extreme, but it fits into a wider picture of brutal exploitation of migrant farm labourers in the Agro Pontino — the Pontine Marshes, the plain around Latina — and elsewhere in Italy. The UN's special rapporteur on contemporary forms of slavery estimated in 2018 that more than 400,000 agricultural workers in Italy risk being exploited and almost 100,000 likely face "inhumane conditions".

Last month, a 27-year-old from Mali collapsed and died in the southeastern Apulia region after working a day in the fields in temperatures of up to 40 degrees Celsius (104 degrees Fahrenheit).

In the Agro Pontino, a major hub for greenhouse farming, floriculture and buffalo mozzarella production, Indians have been a presence since the mid-1980s.

Users and creators have mixed feelings over Instagram prioritising video content over photos in the days ahead

SIMRAN AHUJA

MOUNICA Tata, a city-based artist has been wondering how to rewire and adapt her content to newer formats. Tata, who is popular on Instagram as @doodleodrama, has been using the platform to share static art in the form of relatable, slice-of-life comics and illustrations. Now, she seems worried about the algorithm as she feels that it's no longer working in favour of static content. "I've noticed that in the past few months, Instagram is pushing video content more, especially since the introduction of reels. Even brands (through collaborations/commissioned gigs) want to focus on reels," said Tata.

Other creators and users too have noticed video content (short videos like reels or even video clips shared as stories) getting higher engagement or cropping up more on their feed. Change was clearly on the horizon and this was recently confirmed by head of Instagram, Adam Mosseri. He fittingly shared a video on social media to discuss how video would be a big part of the app's attempt to entertain people. "We're no longer a photo sharing app," he said. Photos will still be a part of the app, but the future seems to be video.

On his official Twitter handle, Mosseri wrote, "At Instagram, we're always trying to build new features that help you get the most out of your experience. Right now we're focused on four key areas: creators, video, shopping and messaging."

This could mean different things for millions of app users. Deena Pinto, a fashion blogger (@skinnygirldiariez), says, "It's best to hop aboard this trend as it gathers steam. It can be good for both creators and users."

For one, storytelling and visualisation becomes easier. "A photo of a jacket doesn't say much. But someone using a short video to show you what it looks like from different angles or ways to style it seems better," explains Pinto.

Video also helps in a world of waning attention spans. Sakshi Agarwal, a homebaker who runs @itswhipped, has noticed reels on baking hacks or product showcases have more appeal than a photograph. "I've touched 100,000 views with reels. But on a photograph, the maximum likes has been 300. Reels are more work but it's rewarding too," she says.

Though challenging, Tata too doesn't deny that she is looking forward to experimenting with her content. "But with everything moving to video, there would be people like me who would miss the photo-focussed platforms," she says.

There's nothing one can't find a reel for, the list of tips, tricks and trends is endless. Users, however, question how much is too much? Jeanne Rozario, a copywriter, already finds herself scrolling through a bottomless pit of reels."Since it performs better than photos, more people resort to using it. It's hard to say how I'll feel about more video but I might go off the app for sometime if it's too much," she says.

Diya Rajan, who uses Instagram to share her art, feels the pivot to video would not affect her since she doesn't use the platform to earn a living. "But as artists, we just want to share the final look of our work. Now, we have to turn art content into videos for reach. I'm not a fan of the change but I can't do anything about it," she says.

Cajole Kapoor echoes a similar thought. Though sad about Instagram moving away from its photo-sharing roots, she is curious about what changes are in store for creators like her. "For me, Instagram allowed more growth than YouTube. With reels, I have managed to reach many others who weren't even following me. Not evolving with it could mean getting left behind," she adds.

After fighting a long Covid battle, Vikram Sampath is now ready to tell the unfinished story of Veer Savarkar in the second volume

Moving On

SANATH PRASAD

AFTER battling the deadly Covid-19 virus, Vikram Sampath, the award-winning author and historian, is now ready for the launch of the second volume of his book titled 'Savarkar: A Contested Legacy (1924-1966)'. The new book will be available by the end of this month. "Covid 19 made me realise that we have so many small things to be grateful for, which we take for granted--starting with of course the basic ability to be able to breathe effortlessly," says Sampath.

frankly speaking

However, ahead of giving the final touch to his book, the author was struck by the coronavirus. "Luckily , I had completed the writing of the book and the editing was in process. The thought did cross my mind several times while in hospital if I would even survive to see the book in print. But guess, I was destined to live to tell the tale," says Sampath.

The Bengaluru-based historian also claims that he drew inspiration from his mother while he battled for his life in the ICU for three weeks. "I have thankfully inherited a strong willpower from my mother who suffered several chronic ailments. She managed to face them all with a smile which is what inspired me to keep going through those very painful, scary and uncertain moments," he says.

The first volume 'Savarkar: Echoes from a Forgotten Past' covered his early life as a fire-brand revolutionary in India and London, his incarceration in Cellular Jail in the Andaman Islands among others. However, the second volume digs a little deeper into his reforms and ideology. "It covers 13 years of his confinement in Ratnagiri till 1937 when he ushered in several social reforms for the eradication of caste system and untouchability, promoting inter-caste dining, inter-caste marriage, temple entry for all and much more," says Sampath.

As for his future plans, the author is planning to release two more books this year ."I seem to be in a hurry to make up for lost time. I also need to sit down towards working on a three-book deal with my publishers that needs to get completed by 2025-26," adds the author of four acclaimed books 'Splendours of Royal Mysore: the Untold Story of the Wodeyars', 'My Name Is Gauhar Jaan: The Life and Times of a Musician', 'Voice of the Veena: S Balachander-A Biography'.

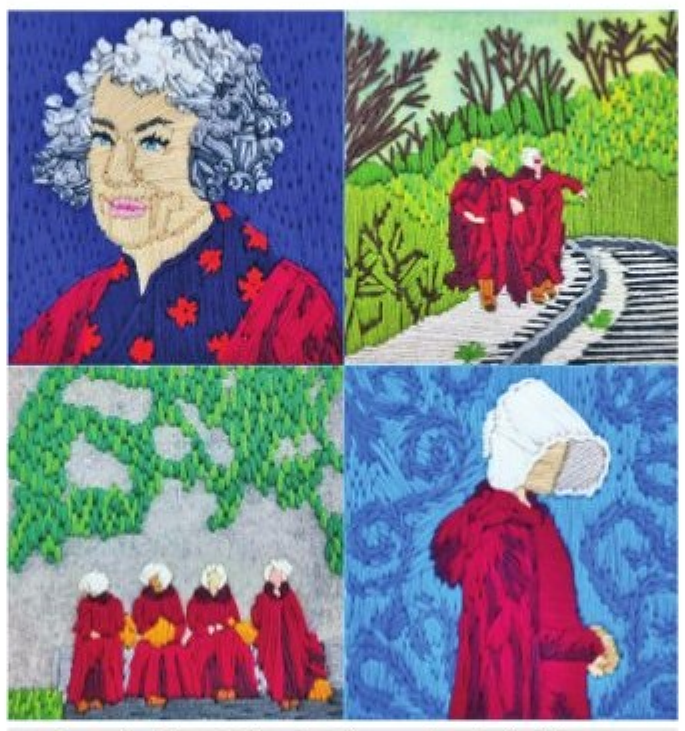
Anuradha Bhaumick, embroidery artiste



Anuradha Bhaumick's embroidery art inspired by Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale

OF STITCHES AND STORIES

A stitch in time could be a tribute for life, feels embroidery artiste Anuradha Bhaumick, whose new series takes inspiration from literary icons

SIMRAN AHUJA

A GOOD book can stay with you long after you turn over its last page. And a well-crafted novel can often be a muse to many. It certainly is for Anuradha Bhaumick, an embroidery artist from Bengaluru, whose latest series is called Booked For Life. Here, the 29-year-old uses various stitches in time to make a piece of art that is inspired by the books that left an impression on her. Calling it her tribute to the authors, Bhaumick says, "My Booked For Life series came from a desire to re-read books. I was unable to read in the years before this with my 9-5 job, I used to spend whatever time I had left after work to do absolutely nothing. It's not that people who have corporate jobs don't read, I was just lazy. I am making up for the lost time and getting inspired by all the books that I am choosing to revisit."

The embroidery artiste kick-started her series with a James Baldwin piece, which was done on a 10"x10" canvas. Why did she pick this particular writer to begin with? "The first book of his I read was The Fire Next Time in 2014. In this book, Baldwin writes a letter to his nephew narrating his experiences with racism and religion during the emergence of the Civil Rights Movement in America. During the same time, my sister had her new born son in the US, and I felt like this was universe's way of introducing me to a guru who had the right advice for me at the right time," says Bhaumick, who left her job as a denim designer in 2020 to become a full-time embroidery artiste.

The next book in the series was Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale. Instead of one piece, this tribute was divided into four, and the canvases were sized at 5"x5".

Unravelling Bhaumick's love for embroidery would take you back to when she was five and started learning this skill during a bout of chicken pox. But despite the various knots life threw her way, embroidery was always there to calm her down. "I preferred if life was going at 5x speed. Without embroidery, I would be a very angry and frustrated person. It's my therapy," she explains. The process even instilled newtraits in her. Patience is one of the most visible ones and is evident in the intricate details in her work. Take, for instance, the James Baldwin piece, where even the book titles have been embroidered on the spines of the novels. "My pieces take anywhere between 30 hours to 150 hours to make. The longest I have spent on an embroidery is 150 hours and it is the James Baldwin piece," she says.

The series is an ongoing one, where she will create something inspired by a book as and when she re-reads it. Possible new additions include Marjane Satrapi, Arundhati Roy, Jhumpa Lahiri and Haruki Murakami.

FIT BIT

UTTANASANA

(STANDING FORWARD BEND)

In Sanskrit, 'uttana' means intense stretch and 'asana' means pose. It is a standing forward fold, which is considered very good for relieving stress and soothing the nervous system. It forms part of the Surya Namaskar sequences. It is similar to Padahastasana (hands to feet pose), but in full Uttanasana, the hands tend to come to the back of the ankles, while in Padahastasana they are under the feet. In addition to the physical stretching and strengthening benefits, it balances the body.

STEPS

- Stand upright and place both hands on the hips.
- Breathing in, make the knees soft. Bend the waist and lean forward. Try to balance the body.
- Move the hips and tailbone back slightly. Slowly lift the hips upward and pressure will start coming on the upper thighs.
- Hold the ankle from behind with your hands. Your legs will be parallel to each other.
- Your chest will touch the top of the leg.
- There will be a wide space between the chest bones and the pubis.
- Press the thighs inward and keep the body stable on the heels. Tilt the head down and look through the legs.
- Remain stable in this position for 15-30 seconds.
- Pull the breath inward and place the hands on the hips. Slowly rise up and stand up.
- Relax yourself and exhale.

BENEFITS

- Helps strengthen the reed bone. Regular practice relieves stiffness of your spine, neck and back.
- Helps reduce stress, eliminates fatigue and gives peace of mind.
- Your head is tilted down so there is blood circulation to the head as well helping you get rid of headaches and insomnia.
- Helps reduce tension and anxiety.
- Your stomach is massaged, which makes it's functioning more active.
- Best asana to keep the liver and kidneys healthy.
- Helps in hypertension and stimulates asthma, osteoporosis, sinusitis, and spleen.
- Widens hips, works on your back, piddles, hamstrings, which strengthens your thighs and knees.

LIMITATIONS

- If you have back pain, sciatica, and pain in your thighs or hamstrings, avoid this asana.
- If you have glaucoma or any retinal problem, avoid this asana.
- Pregnant women should not try this asana.

This monsoon take care to avoid the chance of getting a co-infection with Covid-19 and malaria or dengue

RAIN RISKS

DR SARANYA NARAYAN

MONSOON quenches the thirst of the land but is also accompanied by tropical, vector-borne diseases like malaria and dengue. With India's ongoing battle with the pandemic, the onset of possible disease-filled monsoons put people at additional risk of getting infected by either. With overlapping symptoms of malaria, dengue, and coronavirus, the diagnosis and treatment become more difficult and strenuous. The only way to treat Covid patients is by providing proper medication, at the right time. Co-infection can affect this process. Thus, it is best to prevent co-infection, which will help in preventing wrong treatment, leading to complications or death.

SYMPTOMS

The characteristics of dengue fever, malaria and Covid are more or less the same, which compounds the risk of infection and correct diagnosis.

Dengue: A vector-borne disease, this is a viral infection that induces high fever in the body. Also called bone-breaking fever, it causes severe headaches and body pain. Other common symptoms are nausea, vomiting and diarrhoea.

Malaria: Chills, shivering, fever, headache, and vomiting are some of the common symptoms. Caused by an infected anopheles mosquito carrying the plasmodium parasite, malaria can be a life-threatening disease if not treated quickly. In severe cases, seizures, sweats, and acute fatigue are some other symptoms.

Covid-19: Ever since the SARS CoV-2 virus first came into action, its symptoms have evolved and manifest differently in each individual. Spread through an infected person's air droplets from a cough or sneeze, some of its most common symptoms are fever, headache, body pain and dry cough. Since it spreads from droplets, masks over the mouth can prevent the spreading of infection. Other established symptoms are tiredness, sore throat, diarrhoea, and occasional difficulty in breathing or shortness of breath.

Measures to avert co-infections

Malaria and dengue can spike during the monsoon season. The major preventive measures to avoid these vector-borne diseases in tropical areas have been vector control, regular visits and surveillance in disease-prone areas, and basic protective measures. But, since the pandemic still stands strong in various parts of the country, it has engendered minimal human mobility and limited resources. The challenge for authorities is to blueprint a strategic plan to curb the outbreak of malaria and dengue, keeping the current situation in mind. Meanwhile, an increase in Covid testing can also prove to be the right way to go. With rapid testing, the infection can be distinguished from malaria and dengue.

What can we do?

Malaria, dengue, and Covid can become life-threatening if not treated properly. Thus, it is of utmost importance to ensure a sufficient supply of hospital beds, medicines, and diagnostic facilities. However, at your end, you can religiously follow Covid guidelines: Wearing a mask, social distancing, and regular sanitisation/washing hands. You should also avoid fresh water stagnation and wear clothes that protect us from being bitten by mosquitoes. Avoid unnecessary gatherings, keep your homes mosquito-proofed and clean, follow Covid-appropriate behaviour and stay safe.

Controlling hypertension and obesity can help in keeping away from this condition

Preventing kidney cancer

DR BASWANTRAO MALIPATIL

KIDNEY cancer is mostly considered as a health condition of the elderly. Generally, people in the age group of 50 and above need to be cautious about this condition. Though prolonged kidney disease or kidney failure was the reason to develop kidney cancer earlier, now there is surge in cases due to our inactive lifestyle and change in eating habits. The sedentary lifestyle we follow has increased the chances of people developing obesity and high BP in their young age which increases the risk of kidney cancer.

Kidney cancer appears when the cells of one or both kidney's turn malignant, grow faster and forms a tumour. Mostly these tumours first appear in the tiny tubes in the kidney.

There are various factors which increase the risk of kidney cancer. They can be divided into two categories: Lifestyle related and general.

LIFESTYLE

High blood pressure: Uncontrolled blood pressure can lead to kidney cancer over a long term

Smoking: Smoking increases the risk of developing kidney cancer

Exposure to toxins: Exposure to substances like cadmium and asbestos, which are used in production factories for batteries and plastics can increase your risk of developing Kidney Cancer.

Obesity and poor nutrition: Kidney cancer has often been attributed to a high-fat diet.

GENERAL

Age: Kidney cancer is commonly prevalent in people above the age of 50, with an average diagnosed age of 60.

Gender: Kidney cancer is more common in men than in women, with a ratio of 4:1.

Dialysis: People who go through long-term dialysis for kidney diseases are more likely to develop kidney cancer.

Family history: Having a family history of kidney cancer can also be a risk factor.

(The author is the Consultant, Medical Oncology, Columbia Asia Hospital Sarjapur Road)

HOW TO IDENTIFY KIDNEY CANCER?

Though kidney cancer does not exhibit any major symptoms in its initial stages, a regular health check-up or tests for other underlying health problem may reveal the possibility of kidney cancer. Few symptoms are:

- Blood in the urine
- Pain in the side of the body that gets worse or won't go away
- A lump or bulge in the side or belly area
- Unexplained weight loss
- Fever and feeling lethargic always

If left untreated, kidney cancer can spread to other parts of your body or it can also relapse if proper care is not taken.

PREVENTING KIDNEY CANCER

Quit Smoking	Control blood pressure	Maintain a healthy body weight
Smoking increases the chances of developing kidney cancer	Uncontrolled high BP can damage, narrow, weaken, or harden the arteries around your kidneys and lead to kidney cancer	Cut down on your junk food intake and exercise regularly to keep your body healthy. Consume fresh vegetables and fruits, and increase water intake

Watch out for signs of a cardiovascular disease and follow these steps to stay healthy during the pandemic

Heart of the matter

DR SREEKANTH B SHETTY

THE raging pandemic has hit all of us real hard and has changed our lifestyle, eating habits and almost everything overnight. Senior citizens with underlying conditions like diabetes, hypertension and cardiovascular issues are more prone to get severely affected by the deadly virus. Cardiovascular Disease (CVD) has been the top killer globally. With the outbreak of the pandemic, researchers have found a close link between Covid-19 outcomes and CVD. Likewise, it has been observed that Covid-19 could be associated with a high inflammatory burden, the so called inflammatory or "cytokine storm," inducing vascular inflammation, myocarditis, and cardiac arrhythmias. This is why it is imperative to be aware of the ways of keeping one's heart healthy.

How to keep heart healthy during pandemic

Adapting to the new normal: Stay home, practice hand hygiene and sanitisation and wear masks while stepping out. Avoid crowded places.

Make use of telemedicine: If you already have some sort of heart conditions, make sure to stay in touch with your cardiologist. Reach out to the concerned doctor via video consultations and make sure if you are hitting your health goals, taking medicines appropriately and more.

Continue taking your medicines: Do not listen to confusing news and do not give up taking your regular medicines based on these news. It has been already proven that there is no link between blood pressure medicines and Covid-19 risks. Therefore, it is important for an individual to continue their regular medication (blood pressure or heart-related medication) without any disruption or failure.

Follow healthy lifestyle habits: Eat healthy, exercise, get adequate rest and monitor blood pressure in case you have history of hypertension or heart failure.

(The author is Senior Consultant and Head of Interventional Cardiology, Sakra World Hospital)

WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY?

In case of cardiac emergencies make sure you reach the hospital in time. The fear of Covid should not stop you from getting the necessary care for non-Covid emergencies. The best treatment in a heart attack remains an emergency angioplasty. Prompt assessment of a patient with chest pain and a quick angioplasty saves lives.

SIGNS TO WATCH OUT FOR

Here are certain symptoms that may be indicative of a stroke or heart problems:

- Chest pain or pressure, especially during physical activity
- Facial drooping on one side
- Arm weakness or numbness on one side of the body
- Speech changes, including slurred or garbled speech
- Loss of vision
- Severe headache
- Shortness of breath or difficulty breathing at night
- Leg swelling
- Dizziness
- Fainting
- Passing out

EATING HEALTHY

Include these to follow a heart-healthy eating pattern

- Plenty of vegetables, fruits and wholegrains.
- A variety of healthy protein sources, especially fish and seafood, legumes (such as beans and lentils), nuts and seeds. Smaller amounts of eggs and lean poultry can also be included in a heart-healthy diet. If choosing red meat, make sure the meat is lean and limit to 1-3 times a week.
- Unflavoured milk, yoghurt and cheese. Those with high blood cholesterol should choose reduced fat varieties.
- Healthy fat choices with nuts, seeds, avocados, olives and their oils for cooking.
- Herbs and spices to flavour foods, instead of adding salt.

NUGGETS

A CUP OF COFFEE A DAY MAY KEEP COVID AWAY

Drinking one or more cups of coffee per day was associated with about a 10 per cent decrease in risk of Covid-19, compared to less than one cup daily, claimed a study. The study, led by researchers from the Northwestern University in the US, also found that the consumption of more vegetables, and less processed meats, could cut the risk of Covid infection. Coffee is known to contain antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties.- IANS

40% RECOVERED PATIENTS SUFFER FROM POST-COVID SYMPTOMS

As India crosses 3 crore Covid recoveries, the incidence of post-Covid symptoms is noticeably increasing across the country. Over 40 per cent of Covid-recovered patients said that they are still having symptoms, out of which weakness/fatigue was reported the maximum. Many patients also reported newer symptoms like insomnia and neuropsychiatric issues among others. - IANS

SOULFUL

LEARN WITHOUT COMPULSION

THERE is no freedom when there is disorder. Disorder begets authority, and authority in any form is evil-if one can use that word evil. Where there is freedom, disorder or the lack of order cannot exist, yet the disorderly mind is always seeking freedom. Such a mind will define freedom in terms of its own confusion. A disordered mind seeking freedom or asserting freedom has no meaning whatsoever. A disordered mind invites the discipline imposed by authority in different forms-politically, religiously, socially and so on-political tyranny and religious dogma.

What are we being educated for? Is it to make the mind conform to the patterns set by previous generations, or is it to understand and go beyond the whole structure of our disordered life both outwardly and inwardly? Is it merely to acquire knowledge or is it to free ourselves from disorder and so bring about a new society?

Obviously if one gives serious thought to this, education is to bring about in the mind a total freedom so that it is capable not only of ordering its own life but also, in this very process, of bringing about a different social structure. This is action which the mind that is committed to a particular course of action or a particular belief, ideal or action influenced by the environment.

We are concerned with education and how to bring about order without compulsion. Where there is compulsion in any form, subtle or obvious, there is not only conformity, imitation, but also fear is bred. Our problem in these schools is how to educate without any form of authority and compulsion. Knowing how authority comes into being and the effects of compulsion, how is a disordered mind to free itself from its confusion naturally, without effort? The students come from disordered families and society. They themselves are confused, uncertain. They react from their conditioning. Their revolt, which they call freedom, is the response of their confusion. So that is the state of the students. They want security, affection; this cannot be if there is compulsion. In their anxious revolt they reject not only the word discipline with its authority but also any form of coercion. The more sensitive they are, the stronger are their reactions, and their revolt is unfortunately expressed in many superficial ways.

Education is not the right word, but we have to use it to convey a meaning that implies the real cultivation of the human mind in all its relationships and activities. The cultivation of the mind and the heart is our responsibility.

The student comes already conditioned, and from that conditioning his reactions are his temperament, his peculiarity, his desire to fulfil. So the educator, who is also conditioned with his own peculiarities, in his responsibility of relationship to the student must be aware of his own limitations as well as those of the student; so both are educating themselves together. If the educator is disorderly in his private life, and outwardly assumes an orderly life, his word has no significance. When he tells the student to be orderly, he becomes a hypocrite. So the educator needs education as well as the student. This is the principle action- that both are learning-and so the spirit of authority doesn't enter at all into this relationship. When this is clearly and deeply understood, then one has to establish a relationship in which compulsion and conformity cease altogether.
